Verdict Given As Pickets Patrol Outside Courtroom

NEW YORK (AP)—Eleven top American Communist leaders today were convicted of conspiring to teach the forcible overthrow of the United States government. Immediately after the verdict, five defence lawyers and one of the defendants were convicted of contempt of court.

Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist Party, who acted as his own counsel, was the defendant judged in contempt.

The five lawyers convicted of contempt were Harry Sachar of New York, Richard F. Gladstein of San Francisco, Louis F. McCabe of Philadelphia, George H. Crockett Jr. of Detroit, and Abraham J. Isserman of New York.

No date was set for sentencing of the Communists. Sentences were set at once by Federal Judge H. R. Medina for the lawyers.

Sachar and Gladstein received six months. Crockett was convicted under nine specifications and sentenced to four months on each, to run concurrently. McCabe was given 30 days. Isserman was sentenced to four months.

Dennis was sent to prison for six months on the contempt charge.

The contempt judgment came as no surprise. Throughout the trial Judge Medina frequently warned the lawyers and Dennis about their conduct.

In announcing the jury's verdict on the Communist leaders, Mrs. Thelma Dial, foreman of the jury, said "We find each and every one of the defendants guilty."

The jury had deliberated exactly seven hours.

Maximum Penalty Jail, Fine

The maximum penalty possible for each defendant is 10 years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

The jury was polled at the request of defence counsel Harry Sachar.

In taking the poll, the court clerk, William Borman, asked every juror how he found. All answered, "Guilty for all 11."

The jury got the case after a nine-month trial.

Eight of the defendants had gone home for the night to the cheers and applause of their sympathizers, about 100 of whom kept a vigil outside the federal court building. The other three defendants still were in jail during out-of-court hours for contempt.

Picketing had been an off-and-

U.S. Coal Operators Say Lewis' Demands Fantastic

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Soft coal operators today labelled John L. Lewis' price of peace in the United States mine strike as "fantastic."

Lewis said his demands for a new contract would add 30 or 35 cents a ton to the cost of producing coal, but that could be absorbed out of $1 a ton average profits of the industry.

George H. Love, spokesman for northern and western commercial operators, promptly challenged the Lewis figure.

Love said the pit owners had their "backs to the wall" in the race for markets against competitive fuels such as gas and oil.

"What we need is more customers, not orations," Love told reporters after hearing a recording of a 75-minute press conference held Thursday by Lewis.

The United Mine Workers' boss, in addition to announcing for the first time the package cost of his undisclosed contract demands, suggested the government could end the four-week walkout of 400,000 soft coal miners by seizing the pits.

President Truman said at a White House press conference that he had no immediate plans for taking over the coal mines, but that he was looking into his powers.

Eden Says Britain Needs Government With New Outlook

LONDON (Reuters)—Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary and now opposition Conservative Party deputy leader, said today Britain's first need was for a new government with a new vision.

"We should turn our backs on this Socialist rule which is so ill-suited to this land and build upon proved foundations suited to our need and the hour," he told a conference of Associations of Conservative Clubs.

The Labor Government's decision not to hold a general election this year was "utterly deplorable" in view of the gravity of Britain's economic situation.

There was nothing in the record of the government to show that in its dying months it would have either the courage, energy or decision to grapple with the problems that confronted Britain.

While Eden spoke to the clubs, the Conservative Party's 4,500-delegate annual conference—largest in its history—overwhelmingly passed a resolution welcoming reinstatement of Conservative policy in the party's annual conference.

The party's annual conference, which is being held at the Grosvenor Hotel, London, today voted to support Eden's plan to have vigorously denied.

Great Flash Over Ontario Said To Have Been Meteor

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Peter Millman, the Dominion Observatory's expert on meteors, said today a gigantic flash of light over northern Ontario Thursday night "must have been a very large fireball" or meteor.

From descriptions of the flash given by observers, he said, "there is not much doubt about what it was."

Dr. Millman said a fireball was a large meteor, a fragment of stone or metal entering the earth's atmosphere and ignited by the tremendous heat produced by the friction of the atmosphere.

"You can get all gradations of brightness as a result," he said. "Actually meteors have been observed in rare cases which were as bright, or even brighter, than the sun."

Millions of small fragments entered the atmosphere every day, but most of them were too small to be noticed.

He said the observatory was anxious to obtain more complete descriptions of the phenomenon.

She claims to have stolen almost $500,000 in the last 40 years. "People leave money around," she said. "They just throw temptation in my way." (NEA Photo)

Death Sentences For Alleged Conspiracy In Hungary To Stand

BUDAPEST (AP)—Hungary's court of appeal today ruled that Laszlo Rajk, former Communist foreign minister, and two fellow plotters must die for treason. They confessed conspiring to make their country a satellite of Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia.

The court confirmed the three death sentences and also upheld prison terms decreed for three others who admitted conspiring with Rajk to overthrow Hungary's Moscow-backed regime.

Two were given life imprisonment, the other a nine-year jail term.

The sentences were imposed Sept. 24 by a Budapest people's court after a week's trial during which the defendants confessed at length to the government's charges.

Scheduled to die with Rajk are Dr. Tibor Szoenyi, 46, a former member of parliament who directed the Communist Party's cadre system supervising the rank-and-file members, and his deputy, Andras Szalai, 32.

The six convicted men, with two others being held for a court-martial, confessed to charges that they plotted with Americans and Yugoslav agents to overthrow Hungary's Communist regime, charges which both the United States Government and Tito have vigorously denied.

State Home Worker Fired By Board, Denies Witchcraft

ELDRIDGE, Calif. (AP)—A plump, 41-year-old woman emphatically denies practicing witchcraft on mental patients at the Sonoma state home.

Mrs. Lorena Blackwell regarded her accusers with a half-smile and told them she denied all the charges and added she didn't believe in hexes.

After a day-long hearing on her dismissal as an attendant at the home, the state personnel board said Thursday it would announce its decision in the case Oct. 21 or 22.

Mrs. Blackwell was dismissed Sept. 8 on the grounds she "unnecessarily aroused and disturbed" patients in McDougall Cottage with claims of black magic.

The cottage houses female high-grade delinquents described as "very emotional" by Dr. Marshall P. Jones, superintendent of the institution.

French Premier Moch Approved By Margin Of 2

PARIS (AP)—The National Assembly early today approved Socialist Jules Moch as the next Premier of France by the narrow margin of two votes.

An official announcement said 311 votes were cast in Moch's favor and 223 against. He needed a bare minimum of 310 votes.

The 620-seat Assembly was reduced to 619 by the resignation of one deputy Thursday, making 310 instead of 311 the minimum necessary for approval.

The announcement of the tally came after almost three hours of turmoil occasioned by the protest of an absentee vote. Moch's margin was the lowest vote of approval given by the Assembly to an incoming premier in post-war France.

WAGE PROBLEMS

Moch, 56, now is free to form a new government to succeed the cabinet of Henri Queuille. Queuille, leader of the Radical Socialist (moderate) Party, resigned as Premier Oct. 6 after a split had developed in his government over how to solve France's mounting wage-price crisis.

Strong police forces were posted outside the Assembly to prevent demonstrations during the 12 hours of debate which preceded the vote on Moch. Communist-threatened work stoppages were scarcely noticeable.

Moch gained a reputation as a "strong man" when as interior minister he crushed the Communist-led coal strike of last winter.

Vishinsky Sick

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia today was reported to be ill with gripe. He has been in bad health since he came here last month for the fourth United Nations' General Assembly. First he suffered stomach trouble. After he had recovered from that he was said to have become fatigued and suffered gripe.

More Import Cuts

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—New Zealand today announced further restrictions on imports from dollar areas.

Cuts in the import licensing schedules for 1950. They show that licenses for goods from Canada and the United States now will be issued on a six-month basis instead of a yearly basis. This will enable the government to have closer control over dollar commitments.

The new schedules almost eliminate dollar imports under general headings.

Soviet Plan For Tally On Atom Weapon Faces Defeat

LAKE SUCCESS (UP)—The United Nations' Security Council was expected to reject today Russia's offer to trade an accounting of atomic weapons with the United States.

The offer was made last Tuesday by Soviet delegate Jacob A. Malik.

Western thinking on the issue was expressed earlier this week by Ambassador Warren R. Austin, chief U.S. delegate, who called the Russian offer "another attempt to fool the public."

Specifically, the Russians demanded that information on atomic weapons be included in a proposed census of conventional armaments sent for the council's annual report to the General Assembly.

Unless the council votes to ask data on atomic arms as well as conventional weapons, observers agreed that Russia's 40th veto was the inevitable conclusion of the debate.

Hilton Pays Fine; Will Be Released

A cheque in the sum of $1,015.40 received this morning by Deputy Chief John Blackstock from defence counsel J. McKenna unlocked cell doors to free Frank Hilton who had started to serve a six-month sentence for conducting a Dominion-wide lottery.

Sentenced on his conviction in police court by Magistrate H. C. Hall to a fine of $1,000 with the alternative of six months in Oakalla jail, Hilton through his counsel appealed the sentence and announced he was unable to pay the fine.

The appeal was rejected by the Court of Appeal Wednesday.

Hilton will be released forthwith. The odd sum of $15.40 is for transportation and meals.

5,000 Seamen Out Since Wartime Peak

MONTREAL (CP)—The number of seamen employed on Canadian merchant ships has dwindled from the wartime peak of 8,000 to about 3,000, shipping men stated today.

They said a large number of the 5,000 who lost sea-going jobs are ashore because Canadian ships were sold or laid up as a result of foreign competition.

During the war Canada had 200 merchant ships at sea. Shipping men said this figure has been whittled down to 75 vessels.

Capt. R. F. Leslie, Montreal's shipping master, said many seamen have left Montreal to seek jobs on farms and in lumber camps.

Twelve vessels are idle in Halifax and Montreal shipowners have announced they will soon be forced to add their vessels to the immobile fleet. Mariners said that each time a vessel is laid up another 40 men are unemployed.

Canton Rocked By Big Blasts; Lights Go Out

HONGKONG (Reuters)—Three series of terrific explosions rocked Canton tonight according to radio telephone reports reaching here.

Hope For Quiet Take-Over

By EDWARD H. LOCKWOOD

CANTON (AP)—This tense and sleepless south China city today awaited the imminent arrival of the conquering Communists.

Advance units were reported only 10 miles from the centre of the city. Truckloads of Nationalist soldiers rumbled through the streets. All headed south, away from the front to the north.

(Telephoned reports to Hongkong said the Communists had seized the White Cloud airport, the civilian field seven miles northeast of Canton. The Hongkong dispatch was timed an hour and 55 minutes after this dispatch, which was written at 10 a.m. Canton time or 7 p.m. post-Thursday).

Thousands of soldiers left the city during the night. They moved westward, indicating there will be no fight for the city which only a few hours before was the provisional capital of Nationalist China.

There were persistent rumors that the mayor and police will arrange a peaceful turnover to the Communists. These accounts have it that the police already are negotiating with the Communists.

(Hongkong dispatches said Gen. Yu Han-mou, Nationalist commander in south China, was arranging to turn over the city through a representative who had left Hongkong for Canton.)

Other reports said the Communists had made contact with sources inside Canton appealing to them to avoid looting. There has been little looting so far, apparently.

Czechs Adopt New Bills To Impose Control Of Church

PRAGUE (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist-dominated parliament today adopted by unanimous show of hands two bills aimed at imposing strong state control over religion, especially the Roman Catholic Church.

The measures were:

1. A church control bill which would make all clergymen and bishops civil servants paid by the state and grant the government full control over all church appointments, finances and administrative affairs.
2. A bill for the establishment of a new cabinet ministry to supervise church affairs.

Both laws are set to become effective Nov. 1.

The parliamentary action was preceded by two hours of speeches sharply attacking the Vatican and the Roman Catholic hierarchy, which is headed by Archbishop Joseph Beran of Prague.

The bitterest attacks were delivered at the reopening of Parliament by Communist Minister of Justice Alexej Cipek and Father Joseph Ploghar, a suspended Roman Catholic priest who serves in the Communist-led government as Minister of Health.

11 Top U.S. Reds Guilty; Lawyers Held

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal jury convicted 11 top-ranking American Communist leaders today of conspiring to teach overthrow of the United States government by force.

Immediately afterward, Federal Judge Harold R. Medina found five of their lawyers guilty of criminal contempt during the nine-month trial and sent them to jail for terms varying from 30 days to six months.

Eugene Dennis, a defendant who acted as his own lawyer, also drew a six-month contempt sentence.

Thus ended, after seven hours of jury deliberation that began Thursday afternoon, a strife-ridden trial unprecedented in U.S. history.

It was hinted during the trial that conviction of the leaders, who are certain to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, might drive the Communist Party underground in the United States.

The 11 defendants, all members of the Communist National Board, face sentences up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine each. Judge Medina announced he would sentence them next Friday.

William Z. Foster, national chairman of the party, faces trial later on the same charge. He was indicted with the 11 others, but was granted a postponement because of a heart condition.

A dead, shocked silence greeted the verdict. There was no demonstration. The defendants and their lawyers leaned forward eagerly, then sat back, impassive.

when the word "guilty" was pronounced.

Defence Counsel Harry Sacher demanded and got a poll of the jury for the verdict against each defendant.

The federation courtroom, scene of many a jangling outburst since the trial began last Jan. 17, was crowded and tense when the eight women and four men on the jury filed in this morning.

Speaking firmly, the foreman—Mrs. Thelma Dial, a negress, announced: "We find each and everyone of the defendants guilty."

The five lawyers convicted of contempt were Harry Sacher of New York, Richard F. Gladstein of San Francisco, Louis F. McCabe of Philadelphia, George H. Crockett Jr. of Detroit, and Abraham J. Isserman of New York.

Sacher and Gladstein received six months. Crockett was convicted under nine specifications and sentenced to four months on each, to run concurrently. McCabe was given 30 days. Isserman was sentenced to four months.

Series Of Blasts Rock Canton; Fires Started, Lights Go Out

HONGKONG (Reuter)—Three series of terrific explosions rocked Canton tonight according to radio telephone reports reaching here.

The city lights went out and at the same time fire broke out. Another explosion destroyed the middle span of the only bridge crossing the Pearl River.

The other explosions were in warehouses along the waterfront. A British official said he thought some of these explosions were arms and ammunition dumps. Canton was reported under the control of Communist underground and city police as the city awaited the entry of Communist Gen. Chen Keng's troops.

A giant arc of advancing Communists had swung in to within five miles of the heart of the former Nationalist temporary capital.

City Chinese Seek Word Of Friends In Threatened Canton

With refugees reported to be streaming out of Communist-threatened Canton, many Chinese residents of the city are wondering about relatives and friends in that city.

Nearly all members of the Chinese community here are Cantonese or of Cantonese descent. Reports indicated no action is contemplated by Chinese in this city since little is known of actual conditions. As far as can be determined, no word has been received here relating directly to the occupation by Red forces.

A Chinese businessman thought some news might be received within the next few days.

There were persistent rumors that the mayor and police will arrange a peaceful turnover to the Communists. These accounts have it that the police already are negotiating with the Communists.

Prince Rupert Utilities Disrupted By Big Storm

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Torrential rains and a 60-mile-an-hour gale have wrought havoc to Prince Rupert's water and telephone services.

The city of 10,000 was without a water supply today following a break in the main 45-inch line from Shawatians Lake, 12 miles away, and high winds disrupted telephone service. Three hundred telephones were out of order.

The only water available for householders and businesses was rain water stored in barrels and buckets.

Fear of a fire hazard prompted industrial plants to assign workers to aid the city engineer's department in repairing the water main break, caused by a rock slide due to the torrential rain.

500,000 Canadians To Get Tax Refunds At Christmas

OTTAWA (CP)—About 500,000 Canadians will be getting an extra cheque for Christmas.

They are the ones entitled to tax refunds under Finance Minister Abbott's tax-cutting budget introduced in the Commons last spring.

The budget is to be reintroduced next Thursday, but it is expected to carry no major changes, and no changes at all in the tax-cutting field.

Meanwhile the Revenue Department has started preparing the refund cheques to cover 500,000 of the 750,000 persons eliminated from the government's tax lists.

The other 250,000 are mainly persons such as farmers and others who pay taxes directly,

Victoria Hydrographers Complete Survey

Return of an eight-man Dominion hydrographic survey team to Victoria aboard C.G.S. William J. Stewart, marks completion of survey of the Banks Island area in the northern B.C. waters of Hecate Strait, which was under way through the summers of 1948 and 1949 and for one month during 1947. ### Was His Duty To Tour Ship Check Closets

TORONTO (UP)—An officer on the ill-fated cruise steamship Noronic testified at the federal inquiry today he had slept in and had been unable to be on duty on the night of the disaster.

Special Officer W. R. Brown said it was his duty to patrol the ship and check lockers and closets. He said that because of a "ship-up" he did not report for duty at 12.30 a.m. on Sept. 17. The fire which took over 100 lives started at 2 a.m.

On his way from his cabin, the 68-year-old officer said he helped rescue two women from their cabin. He said he also fought the fire on C deck with a hose, but the water stopped flowing completely just before he left the blazing ship.

Crown Counsel John W. Pick-up said he would continue questioning crewmen whose captain and other senior officers already had spent several days on the stand. He said it was possible he also would call some of the Canadian vacationers who were aboard the ship when it burned at its Toronto berth.

HEARD ENGINEER

During Thursday's session, Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, the commissioner, heard from the general manager of the Canada Steamship Lines, the ill-fated Noronic's second engineer and its second mate.

Capt. Norman Reoch, the general manager, testified that the Noronic, his company's Great Lakes flagship, had the same seaworthiness rating as the ocean liners Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth.

He described the rating as "a-100-plus" with Lloyds of London, the insurance underwriters.

After briefly questioning the Noronic's second mate, the commissioner called William J. Bowes, second engineer of the one-time "Queen of the Great Lakes" and a veteran of 25 years on lake ships.

Bowes, who gave his age as 43, told the hearing that passengers had instructions to make their way to C deck in case of fire.

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—The Canada Steamship Lines Ltd. was sued for $100,000 today by Alfred Metzger, who lost his wife in the Noronic disaster Sept. 17. Mrs. Metzger, 29, was drowned when she leaped overboard as the vessel burned at its dock in Toronto.

Metzger, who lives here, filed the action in Common Pleas court. He charged negligence and said the cruise ship lacked fire-fighting apparatus and fire-proof bulkheads.

Paper Says U.S. Planes Flew Over Soviet A-Works

PARIS (AP)—Samedi Solr, Paris tabloid weekly newspaper, said today "supersonic American airplanes have flown over Soviet atom installations."

Quoting a Maj. Silov, identified as chief of staff of a Russian artillery division during the war, Samedi Solr says the planes were probably carrying geiger counters. Silov was quoted last July in the same paper as saying the Russians had exploded an atomic bomb.

The paper says the planes flew over the region at Tashkent in Russian Turkistan.

Silov said the planes were believed to have come from the Iranian border and possibly from American bases on the Barhein Islands in the Persian Gulf.

The paper says Silov had left Europe by boat "for a distant country." Silov was in Germany to supervise dismantling of chemical plants, the paper says, and decided to keep on going from Russia.

Commons Approve Bill To Increase Judges' Salaries

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons voted 88 to 32 this afternoon to adopt a government resolution for introduction of a bill to raise the salaries of judges of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The vote was demanded by members of the C.C.F. and Social Credit groups.

In the vote, they obtained support from the Progressive Conservatives.

It came after a tussle by members of all three opposition parties for information about how much the raises will be.

Justice Minister Carson finally said the chief justice will get $25,000 instead of $20,000 and the other judges $20,000 instead of $16,000.

Lewis Asks $2,500,000 Aid Weekly From A.F.L. Unions

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP)—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers (Ind.), today asked A.F.L. president William Green to throw in $2,500,000 a week to assist C.I.O. president Philip Murray in his steel strike and promised the miners would help.

Lewis, in an amazing bid for labor union co-operation in the two major strikes now on, called on Green to create a fund in which 10 A.F.L. unions would each put up $250,000 every week to help the steel workers "win beyond peradventure."

Lewis said he would match the $250,000 every week from the treasury of the United Mine Workers. His 400,000 miners have been on strike since Sept. 19.

In a letter to Green, Lewis urged the A.F.L. president to "subordinate every other consideration and rise to meet in this fashion the giant adversaries which would decimate the major units of organized labor."

In this way, Lewis who has fought both Green and Murray in the A.F.L. and C.I.O., appeared to be making a tremendous bid to bring all of the major labor organizations into a drive to fight what he called Thursday "a combination" of powerful steel and financial interests to break down unions.

R.C.A.F. Plane To Rescue Of Sick Man

HISTORIC HALIFAX

I AM GOING TO BE CANDID and confess that my approach to Halifax was rather colored by the remembrance of derogatory comments made to me by ex-servicemen who had been stationed there during the Second World War.

Their evident allergy to it was created by the housing shortage and other difficulties arising out of the port's war-swollen state over those years and immediately after.

So I was agreeably surprised to find it a historic and hospitable old city, full of reminders of the early days of British settlement, as well as a hustling, bustling port. And in our four and a half days' stay, I managed to see as much of it and the surrounding country as was humanly possible.

CENTURIES OLD

ON EVERY HAND were reminders that Halifax had been celebrating its 200th birthday this year. For it was born in June, 1749, when the Hon. Edward Cornwallis, twin brother of the then Archbishop of Canterbury, arrived with 2,576 British colonists and landed at Chebucto Harbor to establish a military post.

On this ground, Halifax claims to be the first town in Canada which was primarily settled by the English. The dockyard, commenced in 1759, still has a masonry structure that same year, a sail loft built in 1769 and a clock tower dating back to 1770.

These relics of the past, together with the ancient Citadel on the hill, bring to mind Kipling's lines about Halifax:

"Into the mists my guardian grows put forth,
Behind the mists my virgin ramparts lie,
The warden of the Honour of the North
Sleepless and veiled am I."

PROVINCE HOUSE

TO ME, HOWEVER, ONE of the most interesting spots was the legislative building, known as the Province House. It stands in the middle of the Lower Parade, on the site of the first Governor's House that was built in the early 1750's.

The proud little colony of Ultima Thule decided to house its lawmakers and courts of law in a worthy fashion, and in 1818 Province House was completed, after being eight years a building.

While the hand of the Philistine has despoiled some of its ancient charm over the years, it still retains much of the classic beauty and dignity deriving from the genius of the brothers Adams, its Ionic columns with Greek pediments, graceful balustrades, and symbolic decor.

COUNCIL CHAMBER

THE LEGISLATIVE chamber, which was in process of renovation while I was there, is smallish and half-mooned shape, with tall, narrow, deeply-recessed windows and a very old Speaker's dais and chair.

But the so-called Red Chamber, where the Upper House deliberates, is still much as it was originally—a high-vaulted, stately room, rich in gesso work and Adams stucco on walls, ceilings and mantelpiece. At one end is the red plush-covered dais, with the ancient chairs occupied by the King and Queen on their visit ten years ago.

Around the sumptuously draped chamber hang magnificent life-size portraits of King George the Second and Third, with their respective queens, as well as of figures associated with Nova Scotia's early history, including Judge Richard Halliburton, the famous native humorist who created Sam Slick.

DICKENSIAN COMMENT

I WAS MUCH INTRIGUED, too, by the quaint old legislative library. Built as a law court, its twisted black oak stairs lead to a rickety gallery that runs the length of one side, beneath which the original shelves lean crookedly over the original carved tables and show cases. Even the octagonal librarian—a gracious, charming woman—added to the general atmosphere redolent of the by-gone world of leisure, with no intrusion of the modern.

It is said that in 1842 Charles Dickens witnessed the opening of the legislature at Province House and declared it was "like seeing Westminster through the wrong end of a telescope!"

The description still holds good, in my opinion. The only un-Westminster-like note I found in the Negro commissionaire who escorted me around the building, rattling off its history and explaining the symbolic decorations in a breathless recital which left me as much awed by his evident pride in it all as by his amazing feat of memory.

East Vs. West Fight Gets New Twist In 'Battle Of Dancers'

The East vs. West theme which has dominated international politics in recent months is making its repercussions felt in other fields of endeavor.

Since vaudeville returned a few months ago it has been chugging along at its own speed—which, in most cases, was none too rapid.

But throw in an international angle and the deal takes on new light.

Taking a page from the books of world statesmen, those in charge are offering for the consumption of any one who cares to part with a half dollar with no qualms, are matching east against west.

CHINA VS. BRITAIN

The way it is set up is that a comely young lady who comes from England does a dance on a local stage.

After a break consisting of an accordion player who also sings with what can be described as an unique voice, the battle is on. The emcee introduces a Chinese dancer—also a comely miss—who does her routine in the Oriental style.

The idea is that the customer is supposed to decide for himself which he prefers. He is almost obliged to do this, since the act is billed as the "battle of the exotic dancers."

'Small Potatoes' Charges Cost $20

Although Peter G. Hartnell, 1124 May Street, claimed to Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon that three traffic charges laid against him by Constable Robert Adrian were "small potatoes," he received a total of $20 in fines.

Hartnell pleaded guilty to all, but said the only reason he was appearing in court was to complain of the attitude of Const. Adrian when the officer stopped him, with the resultant charges. Magistrate Hall said he did not think the charges were "small potatoes," that they were all included for a purpose in the make-up of the traffic laws.

Charges were failure to have a red flag at the end of a load protruding behind a vehicle, to produce a driver's license on the spot when requested and for failure to have a motor vehicle registration in a conspicuous place.

Four-Day Run For Presentation Of City Players' Guild

In a small town in Ohio, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, was serene until Sheridan Whiteside slipped on the icy steps—after which there was a continual stir and mix-up.

Such is the setting of the Victoria Players' Guild presentation of the comedy "The Man Who Came to Dinner," to be staged at the Club Sirocco for four nights commencing Tuesday.

Don Jacobs, who plays Mr. Stanley, won the Dominion Drama Festival award for the best actor in 1939. Katherine Youdall takes the part of Mrs. Stanley.

The actress Lorraine Sheldon is portrayed by Margaret Wilson, Montreal-born actress who lived in Victoria for several years and returned to the city after appearing in numerous concerts and in pantomime. Last summer she was in the Starlight Theatre production of "The Firefly."

Others in the cast include Betty McKinnon as Miss Preen; Bob Lambie as Richard Stanley; Moyra Mulholland as June Stanley; Dick James as John; Kathie Stewart-Malcolm as Sarah; Christine MacNab as Mrs. Baxter; Helen Smith as Maggie Cutler; Alec McGowan as Dr. Bradley; Victor Mills as Sheridan Whiteside; Noel Cusack as Harriet Stanley; Harold Gelling as Bert Jefferson; Carl Strabel as Prof. Metz; Gordon Harris as Sandy; Jerry Gosley as Beverley Carlton; Bernard Gillies as Westcott and Mickey Francis as Banjo.

The play is being directed by Victor Mills, assisted by Tom Mayne.

WATERWORKS DISTRICT
Incorporation of the Zeballos Waterworks District under the Water Act, asked in a petition of landowners, has been approved by the provincial government by order-in-council.

The order, otherwise known as "The Ancient, Mystical Order Rosae Crucis," is an international nonsectarian fraternity which claims to have 60,000 members in the western hemisphere.

"By the organization of our knowledge so that one classification logically evolves into another, we can project our thoughts into the future. It becomes possible to determine certain facts before they occur," Mr. Lewis said.

Addressing the Victoria lodge at 725 Courtney Street Thursday evening, he said there is a great need today for the individual to form a wholly individual philosophy.

Emphasizing that his order is not a religious, but a fraternal organization, Mr. Lewis termed Rosicrucianism as a bridge between religion and sheer intellectualism.

U.S. Coal Operators Say Lewis' Demands Fantastic

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Soft coal operators today labelled John L. Lewis' price of peace in the United States mine strike as "fantastic."

Lewis said his demands for a new contract would add 30 or 35 cents a ton to the cost of producing coal, but that could be absorbed out of $1 a ton average profits of the industry.

George H. Love, spokesman for northern and western commercial operators, promptly challenged the Lewis figure.

Love said the pit owners had their "backs to the wall" in the race for markets against competitive fuels such as gas and oil.

"What we need is more customers, not orations," Love told reporters after hearing a recording of a 75-minute press conference held Thursday by Lewis.

The United Mine Workers' boss, in addition to announcing for the first time the package cost of his undisclosed contract demands, suggested the government could end the four-week walkout of 400,000 soft coal miners by seizing the pits.

President Truman said at a White House press conference that he had no immediate plans for taking over the coal mines, but that he was looking into his powers.

Dentist's Report Identifies Body At Vancouver Inquest

VANCOUVER (CP)—Disappearance of Joyce Monasterski, pretty 25-year-old cashier, has definitely been solved, a coroner's jury was told Thursday.

She disappeared on a downtown street Sept. 17 and a nude body found on a West Vancouver beach has been identified through a chart on her teeth. The body was discovered by fishermen last Saturday.

A dentist's report was described as "conclusive evidence," by Archibald D. Walsh, an undertaker. He was present at the dentist's examination, and reported the doctor as saying:

"There is no question—that is the mouth—definitely." Dr. Harold Dyer, the coroner, also told the inquest jury.

"We shall have further evidence but I think that settles the thing fairly well... the teeth are pretty conclusive evidence."

After jurors viewed the body and listened to evidence of identification, the inquest was adjourned until Tuesday.

CAUSE UNKNOWN
Cause of death has not been determined. She was not married.

drowned, but there were no marks of violence. The undertaker told the jury that the outer layer of skin on the girl's body had pretty well disappeared. There were a few abrasions but no cuts. Action of the sea had removed all the hair.

Premotion of "trouble" for the young cashier was portrayed in "awful dreams" of members of her family before her disappearance.

"We feared something had happened," said a letter received here today from two sisters, living in Goodeve, Sask.

"Just before we got the news everyone in the family had awful dreams and nightmares."

The sisters are Mrs. Marie Elash and Mrs. Antonia Konluk who wrote the letter to the Vancouver Sun.

Death Sentences For Alleged Conspiracy In Hungary To Stand

BUDAPEST (AP)—Hungary's court of appeal today ruled that Laszlo Rajk, former Communist foreign minister, and two fellow plotters must die for treason. They confessed conspiring to make their country a satellite of Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia.

The court confirmed the three death sentences and also upheld prison terms decreed for three others who admitted conspiring with Rajk to overthrow Hungary's Moscow-backed regime. Two were given life imprisonment, the other a nine-year jail term.

The sentences were imposed Sept. 24 by a Budapest people's court after a week's trial during which the defendants confessed at length to the government's charges.

Scheduled to die with Rajk are Dr. Tibor Szoenyi, 46, a former member of parliament who directed the Communist Party's cadre system supervising the rank-and-file members, and his deputy, Andras Szalasi, 32.

The six convicted men, with two others being held for a court-martial, confessed to charges that they plotted with Americans and Yugoslav agents to overthrow Hungary's Communist regime, charges which both the United States government and Tito have vigorously denied.

Could Do Business With Chinese Reds Says Envoy Davis

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—T. C. Davis, Canadian Ambassador to China, arrived Thursday on an American evacuation liner, from Red Shanghai and said he believed it possible to do business with Communist China.

Davis was called home by the Canadian government for consultations. He came here on the first evacuation ship cleared by both the Chinese Nationalists and Communists—the American President Lines' General Gordon, a converted army transport. She carried 1,450 passengers, 800 of them from Shanghai.

Davis said the Chinese Communists appear eager for business with the West. He refused, however, to say whether he would consider recognition of the Red government advisable.

Seek Conciliation On Dispute Between Shipyards, Workers

Although shipyard operators and union members have reached an agreement here on wage-increases, conclusion of negotiations has been held up by disagreement on a paid statutory holiday clause and the unions now have applied for a conciliation board, according to officials of the Joint Shipyard Council.

A conciliation award in Vancouver in a dispute between Burrard Drydock Ltd. and Pacific Drydock Ltd., and the Vancouver Joint Shipyard Union Conference, contained the holiday clause and talks here have been proceeding on the basis of the Vancouver award.

The clause provides for three paid statutory holidays annually, to include Christmas Day, Victoria Day and Labor Day, providing the employee has been in the employ of the company for a continuous period of three months prior to the holiday.

The Vancouver firms have agreed to accept as grounds for absence during the three-month period, temporary lay-off, sickness or compensable injury. These grounds would leave the worker still eligible for the holidays.

Victoria employers, however, want to allow only compensable injuries as grounds for absence which would not affect the granting of the paid holiday.

In addition, as it has been agreed to date the new contract from Aug. 4, Victoria employers are arguing that the three-month period of continuous employment should run from that date.

Permit Issued For $125,000 Apartment

Permit for construction of a 22-suite apartment building at 853 Burdett Avenue at a cost of $125,000 was issued today by the city building department.

Work on the site has been started by the contracting company of G. H. Wheaton which announced the building will be two-and-a-half storeys of frame and stucco construction.

Owner is J. L. Harris, 52 Howe Street, and architect F. L. Nicolls.

Real Estate Agent Appeals Conviction

Appeal of William D. Kennedy, real estate agent, against a conviction of unlawfully being intoxicated while in the control of a car, opened in County Court before Judge L. A. Hanna of Port Alberni.

Kennedy was sentenced to seven days imprisonment by Magistrate H. C. Hall following his trial June 7.

Police believe that a burglar who had been trying to force his way into the Pantheon Cleaners' premises by the front door transom during the night, was scared off. Constable Lorne Shandley, on his beat at 2:10, discovered fresh jimmy marks on the transom. No entry was gained.

A plea of guilty was entered in city police court today by James E. Jones, 1278 Basil Avenue, when he was charged with careless driving Oct. 7 on Government Street before Magistrate H. C. Hall. Case was remanded to Oct. 21 for trial.

Boy Cycle Rider Hurt In Accident

Fifteen-year-old school student Gordon Smedley, 1132 Wychbury Avenue, was treated at Jubilee Hospital this morning for a cut over the left eye and a shaking-up when the bicycle he was riding was in collision with a car at Tyee and Esquimalt Roads at 7:55.

City police said the car was driven by Darrell Walker, employed at the C.N.R. shops, Bay Street. Bicycle's frame was bent by the impact and the right door handle of the car was damaged. The automobile was impounded.

J. D. Eaton Visits City, Nanaimo Stores

John David Eaton, president of the J. D. Eaton Company Limited, today inspected the Nanaimo branch store of the nation-wide retail organization after stopping overnight in Victoria.

Ultimate Resumption Foreseen In Chinese Trade By Cosgrave

Trade with China, disrupted by the Chinese Communist revolution, is bound to resume certain natural patterns in the future, in the opinion of Col. Lawrence Vincent Moore Cosgrave, who until last spring was Canada's commercial counsellor in Shanghai.

Col. Cosgrave, who signed on behalf of Canada the Japanese unconditional surrender aboard the U.S.S. Missouri in 1945, today is in Victoria meeting provincial government and other officials interested in doing trade with the Far East. Also here today is Carman Milward Croft, senior trade commissioner for Canada at Sydney and commercial counsellor at Canberra.

The pair joined the Canadian government trade commissioner service together one February morning almost 27 years ago. Since then their paths have occasionally crossed during their service in various parts of the world.

Col. Cosgrave, who pulled out of Shanghai "with dignity" before the Communists entered the city, looks on the Communists' advances as a continuation of revolutions which began in China years ago. He believes that eventually Communist China will have to do business with the western world, although he quickly points out that there are many "ifs" predicated his supposition.

Col. Cosgrave recalls that China in modern times has had one crisis after another and has always come through. He recalled how trade had fallen off sharply following the Japanese advances into China in the '30s, yet had resumed almost as quickly as it had fallen off.

Canada produces many products which China will need and which Russia will not likely be able to supply. Ultimately ways will be found, Col. Cosgrave believes, for Canada, and other western powers, to do business with China.

AUSTRALIAN TRADE

Mr. Croft, who will return to Australia next week aboard the Aorangi, reported that Australia's trade with dollar countries is really quite large but limited to a few products which the Australians cannot obtain in sterling areas.

All imports are controlled by the Australian government, many of them being on quotas. White Australia before the war took 200,000 tons a year of Canadian newsprint, imports now have been cut down to 40,000 tons per year.

While Canadian salmon was common on the shelves of Australian stores before the war, today there is none. All the same the Australians would like very much to get B.C. salmon.

He said Canadian-Australian trade, like that of most countries, was still in a state of flux because of devaluation and restrictions by the Australian government to conserve dollars. Only time will tell what future trends the trade will take.

Motorist Jailed For Drunk Driving

A seven-day jail term was imposed against motorist Cyril G.

Stevens, 238 Richmond Avenue, by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today. Stevens pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated while in control of a car Oct. 4 on Fairfield Road at Thurlow Street. His driver's license was suspended for three months.

MOVING TO A FINALE?

THE FALL OF CANTON TO COMMUN- ist troops was hardly unexpected by anyone who has followed the course of the war in China. Although it is difficult at this distance, and under the conditions of censorship prevailing, to gather an adequate view of the quality of the resistance put up by the Nationalist troops since the fall of Shanghai, the advance of the Communist armies has been swift and continuous. Talk of great government stands to be made in the southern Chinese theatre remain little more than that, and the comings and goings by plane of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek appear to offer little that is practical or constructive in a military sense.

Establishment of the Red forces in a port the size of Canton, with its importance to the southern coast, cannot be over-estimated. The Communists now hold a 1,200-mile line extending from Peiping in the north, southward through Shanghai to Canton, all of which belonged to the Nationalist Government a few short months ago. It is true that the vast hinterland of China remains in Government hands, but the very remoteness that is its strength against capture is likewise the measure of its unimportance in eastern Pacific affairs. Communist jurisdiction has thus crept much closer to British-held Hongkong, bringing into sharper focus the practical problems which this presents. It brings closer, too, the decision that must be made by Western diplomats relative to Communist recognition. Although ideologically there will be little inclination to accept Mao Tse-tung, the demands of trade and practical politics may force such a move. Britain already has signified her willingness at least to discuss the subject, although, of course, it is obvious that British and American policy on China must continue to be co-ordinated.

PERSUASION VERSUS COERCION

THE BENEFITS OF IMMUNIZATION against communicable diseases are generally known throughout Canada. Old prejudices resulting from primitive methods have been removed by improved techniques. There are, however, some minority groups in this country which retain their objections to this method of preventing the spread of illnesses. In some instances they support their stand by specific moral and religious argument.

In view of these centres of opposition legal action against parents whose children die from a disease against which they might have been immunized seems scarcely the course of democratic action. Parents, with few exceptions, seek to give their offspring ample protection against fatal agencies. The readiness of the majority to take advantage of any means of safeguarding their children is reflected in the wide acceptance of immunization.

It is a matter of some importance to democratic peoples, however, that minorities who disagree with such treatment should be accorded consideration. Even in medicine, coercion cannot be permitted as a substitute for persuasion. Dr. W. G. Blair, 59-year-old Progressive Conservative member for Lanark, Ont., who suggested prosecution, should, as a member of a democratic parliament, know that.

Education and enlightenment are swelling the ranks of those who take adequate precautions against such illnesses as diphtheria—and the number will continue to grow. But there are definite limits to any efforts that may be made to legislate the public into good health.

HEAD UNBOWED

A LAW IS A LAW, AND THE CORRECT procedure if one does not agree with it is to seek to have it repealed rather than to decide to ignore it. Hence we cannot condone the action of a Welsh odd-job gardener who has made the news columns through his refusal to pay his weekly contribution to Britain's socialized medicine plan. Basing his objection on religious grounds, he willingly paid the fine resulting from his intransigence, but he went to jail for two months rather than hand over the health insurance arrears. "We are commanded," he said, "to put our trust in God. This scheme calls for us to put our trust in man, which I do not agree with."

A universal insurance plan must have the participation of every citizen if the general good is to be protected, but one cannot help a feeling of sympathy—and even admiration—for this Welshman who dared stand up to the increasingly omnipotent State and tell it he would not compromise his principles at the behest of the Government. We are told that the same man had earlier been equally independent—and on much sounder legal ground—when he refused to permit his children to accept free milk at school. On that occasion he enunciated the dictum: "What we need, we pay for."

While it might be argued that he was paying for the milk through his taxes, he displayed a spirit of personal pride and independence that is sorely missing from the world in these days of greater and greater submergence of the individual in the communal mass. The famous figures of our history who stood out and on their own initiative sought to right wrongs must have been of the breed of this Welshman. That spirit may at times be misapplied, but the British tradition will have come upon sorry days if it ever dies out completely. For whose voice will then be raised to champion the common man? Who then will speak for the rank-and-file?

TRAINING YOUNG DRIVERS

WHETHER OR NOT THE FIGURES quoted by Mr. H. G. Kemper, president of the Lumberman's Mutual Casualty Company, to support his indictment of young drivers, jibe with statistics applying to British Columbia, the argument presented by the insurance official bears repetition. He takes the position that if driving courses were instituted in provincially controlled secondary schools throughout the Dominion, the accident record of those under 25 years could be cut in half. This, he points out, would effect a substantial saving to everyone who pays private automobile insurance in Canada.

It is Mr. Kemper's opinion that the saving would be more than adequate to pay the salaries of 1,500 secondary school teachers. We are not in a position to check the figures quoted. But newspaper reports of fatalities on the highways throughout Canada during the Thanksgiving week-end again emphasize the necessity of taking more positive measures than have yet been employed to curtail the slaughter. Twenty deaths were attributed to automobile accidents.

Conceivably the instruction in driving could reduce the toll. The argument has been advanced that when our young people have the advantage of driving courses, they become among the best drivers in the Dominion. At all events, it would appear that secondary school instruction on the subject would make the teenagers more fully conscious of their responsibilities on the road than many of them are at present.

The question involved in such an effort to train car operators while they are young, of course, revolves around the subject of finance. Who is to pay for the courses? It might be to the advantage of the insurance companies concerned to make some practical offer. On the other hand, if the principle of education is training for life, it becomes important to see that the recipients live to reap its benefits; though it should be pointed out that saving a car owner a fraction of his insurance payments scarcely comes within the jurisdiction of educational finance.

LEADING THE WAY

ALTHOUGH A NUMBER OF COUN-tries, including Canada, have opened their doors to refugees from the Displaced Persons camps of western Europe, the preference has been given to young men and women who show promise of being able to contribute by their intelligence and labor to the good of their new home. The accent has been on productivity and the resultant benefit to the receiving country, even though from the immigrant's point of view the new life offered was a ray of hope in an otherwise dark existence. Because so many refugees were seeking assistance, it was natural that those most able to profit by it—and most able to return the favor—would be chosen from the mass.

But what of those remaining? Thousands of aged, injured and ill persons are still in the camps, their ability to repay a possible country of adoption very meagre, their plight hopeless if betterment remains dependent on their own efforts. Where such persons are concerned, the offer of a new home is an example of humanitarianism at its best, rather than an investment in immigrants. With nothing to offer, they pose the problem of what might be called pure generosity—giving without expectation of return.

With these thoughts in mind, the action of Norway in offering a few of these refugees a haven is worthy of world-wide commendation—and emulation. The Norwegian housing shortage limits the number of D.P.'s who can readily be accommodated, so that country has adopted a policy of providing for "the refugees whom no one wants." Fifty blind and disabled persons, with their families, will be brought to Norway and settled near Drammen. The number is insignificant compared with the remaining D.P. camp populations, but the ideal behind the move is of the highest. Other fortunate lands may be encouraged similarly to play the part of Good Samaritans.

GOAL ATTAINED

THE OFFICIAL OPENING OF THE 83-mile Hope-Princeton Highway, scheduled for Nov. 2, will mark the culmination of a project long dreamed of by the people living along the southern border of this province. Proposals for the link were made as long as 100 years ago, but the first constructive step was taken in 1945 when tenders were called. Including the rebuilding of the Penticton-Princeton road, the project represents a $12,000,000 investment. Difficult problems of terrain and routing have been overcome to provide an important link in this east-west artery of the province, and although a seven-mile stretch remains to be hard-surfaced, the Public Works Department, under Hon. Ernest C. Carson, is to be congratulated on the completion of a first-rate job.

It is claimed the hatred fad is passing. But not the fad of passing the hat.

"A new vitamin has been discovered but it is not known what it is good for." But the chances are the public will swallow it.

Stalin's Mask

By BRUCE BOISSAT, from New York

WHAT CAN THE world expect from Joseph Stalin now that Russia holds the atom bomb? Is he likely to use it?

To find the answers to these questions, we need to know the kind of man he is. But no leader of current times is more completely masked in mystery than Stalin. Nevertheless, a new effort to pierce that mask has just been made. Isaac Deutscher, a Polish-born specialist in Russian affairs who writes for the British press, has written a comprehensive biography that is being hailed as the most penetrating yet most objective study of Stalin attempted thus far. What emerges is not a clearly etched portrait. Fundamentals of his make-up remain hidden. But there are some clues to his character that may help the world judge what Stalin may do.

AS DEUTSCHER pictures the Russian dictator:

He is above all a political boss, a master strategist, shrewd, practical, ruthless, unending in spirit. He is no intellectual firebrand, no great theorist of the Communist Revolution, as was Lenin.

Stalin is a man of icy self-possession. In him is none of the impulsive, intuitive behavior of a Hitler.

But like many a gifted politician, Stalin is an opportunist. He changes the course of his policy to fit the circumstances of a time. He does not function from a set master plan in which all major details are determined in advance.

In other words, what the rest of the world does strongly affects what Stalin does. To millions who fear he may already have decided upon war, there may be hope in this analysis—if it is sound.

LIKE ALL OPPORTUNISTS, Stalin has made big mistakes and made them often. At the start of World War II he vastly overrated the strength and quality of the French Army. On the other hand, he underrated the striking power of Hitler's Nazi legions. He of course was not alone in these particular errors.

It is plain, too, that he genuinely hoped to keep Russia out of the war. He looked for a long conflict that might exhaust both sides and leave his country free of invasion. Deutscher concludes it is impossible to tell from the record whether Stalin preferred his 1939 pact with Hitler to one he might have made with the western European powers.

HOWEVER THAT MAY BE, Stalin strove hard to preserve his fragile friendship with Germany. He refused to believe the signs of the coming Nazi invasion. Though he was preparing for it, he did not expect it when it occurred.

Once into the war, Stalin mustered all his indomitable will and strength to save Russia—and himself. Says Deutscher: "He was in effect his own commander-in-chief, his own minister of defence, his own quartermaster, his own minister of supply, his own foreign minister."

He was, no meddler in military strategy like Hitler. He operated as a calm, careful referee among his generals, leaving them room for experiment and independent judgment. But he made all the big decisions.

THESE ORGANIZING and administrative talents were the traits that lifted Stalin to prominence in the Communist Party of revolutionary days. Under Lenin, he won ever higher posts until at last he had controlling power. Then he successfully outmanoeuvred his party opponents and gradually built himself to a pinnacle where others could not reach him.

The fruits of unbridled power came to a man who had begun life as a cobbler's son in the southern part of Russia called Georgia. He was studying theology when first touched with revolutionary fever. From that time forward, he was a hard-driving underground agitator for a socialist rebellion in reactionary Czarist Russia. Before the overturn came he spent nearly 10 years in prisons or in exile.

STALIN, THOUGH, long schooled as a party spokesman, has never risen above the dull and colorless as a public speaker and writer. No spellbinder, he has seemed to shrink from public contact. His soldiers in the field never saw him.

Always since gaining despotic power, he has preferred to remain a sort of misty, impersonal, "grey eminence" standing in the Kremlin surrounded by the familiar symbols of his high station. His travels outside Russia have been limited to a few brief trips to nearby countries.

Stalin's private life? Plain and austere. Deutscher says he knows of only one personal letter ever written by him. Though he twice was married, his passionate devotion to politics ruled out anything like a normal home existence.

NOT MUCH TO GO ON, all this, but it is from such frail evidence that the world's statesmen must try to gauge Stalin and keep him from using the great atomic secret he has learned.

Quoting

A united Europe can only come about by giving up some sovereignty. — Georges Bidault, French minister of foreign affairs.

Bah, there's no real boxing today. The kids—they don't know how to roll with a punch, how to stalk a man and wait for just one good opening. They get out there and slug for a few rounds with powder-puff punches and one of them goes down. — Former world's heavyweight champion James J. Jeffries.

Let Us Pray

Throbbing In The Jungle

The Times of London

ALTHOUGH the savage quite quickly learnt to see through the white man's magic, so that the descendants of those who were once terrified by the sight of their own face in a mirror today gaze with delight at the faces of complete strangers on the cinema screen, the white man has never really got to the bottom of the black man's more recondite arts.

SHORTER RANGE

It will be a pity, perhaps, if he ever does and few will be particularly elated by the dispatch from our Bulawayo correspondent, which makes it clear that bush telegraphy is not the coast-to-coast hookup that we all supposed but merely domestic means of communication with a range little greater than that of a dinner gong on the country house terrace.

Mr. Hugh Tracey, who has been making researches in the Congo on behalf of the African Music Society, does not indeed belittle the capacity of the talking drum to talk. Villagers can be summoned by name, a local alarm can be broadcast, eulogies of a visiting dignitary can be tapped out; but it seems that that pregnant throbbing with which the romantic writers made such play was not so very pregnant after all.

LESS ROMANTIC

Its eerie rhythm is not in fact relayed from camp-fire to camp-fire, nor does its sullen tattoo, flowing centrifugally far over jungle and mountain and desert, disseminate throughout half a continent between dusk and dawn portentous tidings and dreadful, urgent calls to arms. What we are hearing (if we hear anything at all) is something of far less dramatic import—a sort of airborne Agony Column, with a dash of the Court Circular thrown in.

"Will M'Bongo please return from the yam patch. All is forgiven." "Is there a witch-doctor in the kraal?" "The chief's brother-in-law, a person of the noblest character, will arrive tomorrow on a short visit."

RESTORES CONFIDENCE

It is, of course, reassuring to know that the talking drums are transmitting such innocuous, not to say banal, communications, and the revelation that one of the jungle's most closely guarded secrets consists of an arrangement inferior in efficiency even to his local telephone exchange should buttress the white man's armour prop. But it is the wrong sort of rider to Rider Haggard's stories.

One Who Spread His Wings

News From Turkey

FIRST Lieut. F. Kondvadievic of the Soviet air force, who sought refuge in Turkey last month after escaping from the Crimea in a commandeered training plane, has been interviewed by newspapermen in Istanbul.

ESCAPE

His plans to escape from Russia were formulated long ago, Kondvadievic said. He got himself appointed instructor at a civil aviation school in the Crimea, and on Sept. 13 took a trainee up for a lesson. After cruising around for a while, he pretended that the engine wasn't functioning properly.

Making a "forced" landing, he induced the student to get out of the machine. Having made certain "adjustments," he told his companion that he would take off alone for a short test flight to see if all was well once more. "Naturally," he smiled, "my next stop was on a landing field in Turkish territory."

Questioned as to why he had chosen Turkey, Kondvadievic said: "Russians are forbidden to read foreign newspapers or listen to foreign broadcasts; but I used to tune in to Radio Ankara, and soon learned that Turkey is intensely anti-Communist. So here I am."

Kondvadievic told reporters that life in the Soviet Union has become absolutely intolerable for everyone except members of the Communist party, who lead comparatively comfortable lives, with the rest of the population doomed to misery, mental distress, and hunger. The abolition of ration cards for bread, he said, has only resulted in an increase of 300 per cent in the price of bread. Party members themselves are far from satisfied, but neither they nor army personnel dare to complain openly.

DISAPPEARS

Any person who shows the slightest tendency to criticize disappears mysteriously, never to be heard of again. Only a short time ago, Kondvadievic said, 37 persons were arrested on a charge of being agents for a foreign power; none knows what has become of them.

Youth's Tribute To Age

HERE is a note regarding the late J. F. Bledsoe, pioneer British Columbia newspaper man.

When I first met him I did not have the slightest idea of who the old white-bearded gentleman was, and seeing him almost every day only served to intensify this curiosity. Rarely did I enter his room and find him elsewhere than in a low chair near the window. During the summer months, however, I frequently found him bent over his radio listening to the play-by-play description of the local ball game. What could such an old man as he care about the score of the game? It was no small wonder then that my curiosity deepened.

Around his room I had by now noticed specimen cases of polished stone, an old typewriter and a brass microscope. Of course there were other things but it was these that remained imprinted on my mind. Once when entering his room I had found him standing. Always believing him to be a man of average height I was astounded—if he could only straighten up he would be well over the six-foot mark, with shoulders that would do honor to any football player. Never do I recall entering his room when he did not have some remark for me, generally of wit. He was always cheerful, though I doubt whether he ever got out into the fresh air any more as his room gave off the smell of his pipe tobacco continually, which he smoked through his long thin pipe.

I soon found he was a regular subscriber to the Reader's Digest, as he would pass each issue on to me soon after its arrival, often before it was on the newsstands.

I had been meeting him daily for the better part of a year before I found out who he was. He was John Frank Bledsoe, 94-year-old ex-newspaper man, geologist and explorer, to name but a few of his many and varied occupations.

As at the time I happened to have a slight thought of turning to journalism for my career, he became in my mind primarily a newspaper man. If some day I do make journalism my career it will be due largely to the inspiration he gave me. I doubt, however, if he will ever be aware of the influence he has put into my decision. What greater inspiration could be received by a boy of 15 as to his career, than by an active-minded ex-newspaper man such as J. F. Bledsoe?

How did I ever meet such a shut-in fellow as Mr. Bledsoe? I simply placed the home edition of this newspaper in his hands during the last year and a half of his life.—Route 53.

THE FORTUNES of the Chinese Nationalists continue to ebb.

The great southern seaport of Canton—until recently emergency capital of the harassed Nationalist government—has been abandoned by Chiang Kai-shek's forces in face of the on-sweeping Red military machine from the north. The gates of this metropolis of 1,000,000 inhabitants are open to the troops of the newly-proclaimed Communist government at Peiping.

The Nationalists once more have moved their government to the ancient city of Chungking. This is, in a manner of speaking, the last outpost of the retreating regime.

Chungking is the capital which the Nationalists occupied in the dark days of the Second World War. A few miles further west is the mist-shrouded hump which caps the towering mountain barrier between China and Burma—the Hump, of evil memories for British and American airmen.

How much longer can the Nationalists hold out in face of such misfortune? Over in Bucharest, Romania, the Cominform Journal called developments in China the "greatest defeat for world reaction and imperialism." This journal, which is the mouthpiece of the political organization which links all Communist countries, predicts that the Red victory in China will promote revolutions in India, Burma, Indonesia and other Asiatic countries.

Well, Communist victory in China certainly would have momentous effects not only in Asia but around the globe. But let's not be hasty in reaching a conclusion. What will constitute victory in China?

Victory means not only the smashing of the enemy military strength but the establishment of a government which really can govern. That means a government which has the co-operation of China's 500,000,000 people, for you can't handle that many folk without their co-operation.

On that basis the Communists have a weary way to march before they even get a glimpse of success. What they see now is a mirage—fascinating but intangible.

POLITICAL POVERTY

Windsor Star.

Miss Grace Tully, private secretary to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt during all his terms as president, reveals that he lost $25,000 a year. He was a man of large means, and could afford it. But it does show that those who talk about politicians getting rich simply do not know what they are talking about. They do not get rich, unless they are crooked, and in a democracy few dishonest men last long in public life.

AFTERMATH OF A FIRE

New York Times

The tremendous impact of forest fires on a nation's economy is seldom shown with more striking force than in the case of the fires that swept large areas of French woodlands a few weeks ago. Not only did those blazes take the lives of 70 human beings and destroy untold numbers of valuable wildlife, but it now develops that they have upset the timber market of the entire European continent and their effects will be felt in the economy of France for years.

NO MURMURING SHELL

Montreal Gazette

There is a man who travels much on business in this country and who has, a distinctive manner of asking for a room in the hotel he visits. "I don't care what kind of a room you give me," he says, "but give me one where they're not putting up or tearing down something."

This man is by no means a curious eccentric. Such a request has become almost necessary these days in any big city. For the process of building up or tearing down has become almost incessant, and the thudding clamor of setting even the most normal nerves dancing on their edges.

Back in the 1880's Robert Louis Stevenson wrote a poem in which he described how he could recline in his room and listen to the distant sounds of the city "murmuring like a shell." But that was back in the 1880's. To the citizen of today the city is more likely to sound like a monstrous mechanical woodpecker.

City Only Greater Victoria Section With Less Fire Loss

While fire losses up to the end of September this year show an increase for the municipalities of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, Victoria City can show a 60 per cent decrease, a survey showed.

All fire chiefs of the area this week joined hands in the annual campaign to make citizens of Greater Victoria redouble their efforts to take steps to guard their homes and places of business from destruction by flames. "Never cease your vigil against fire danger," is the appeal from Fire Chiefs Robert T. Brindle (Victoria), Ed Clayards (Oak Bay), Joseph Law (Saanich) and Gilbert Stancombe (Esquimalt). Vital statistics on fire losses in the area this year:

City—$67,000, compared with $168,981 for the same period last year. Two deaths.
Oak Bay—$14,112, compared with $7,854 for the first nine months of 1948, or double, alarms also doubled in number.
Saanich—$15,505, compared with $16,262 for the same period last year, slightly up, fire alarms the same at 83.

Esquimalt—$2,290, compared with $1,720 in 1948.

Chief Robert Brindle of Victoria pointed out there were six fires in Victoria caused by children playing with matches in 1948, 33 caused by smokers' carelessness.

British Columbia's property loss by fire last year totaled $7,147,720. The 1947 figures were $1,212,181. Total number of fires aggregated 5,744, an increase of 47 per cent over 1947. Fifty-eight people were killed in those fires.

December-January Fire Deaths 2,000, Past Figures Show

If past years are an indication—unless Canadians smarten up and take every precaution to ward off fire—approximately 2,000 persons will lose their lives during the colder months of December and January.

These facts come right from the insurance people who have the figures that tell the story of destruction and misery by fire. "Thousands of homes will be destroyed and thousands of others damaged," the insurance officials say, in urging citizens during Fire Prevention Week to

Keep Matches Out Of Reach Of Children!

Some safety rules to guard against fire in the home:
Keep matches out of reach of small children.
Distribute ashtrays about the house—and don't permit smoking in bed.

Don't play handyman with electric wiring. Have faulty wiring repaired by a qualified electrician.

Have the furnace and chimney cleaned at least once a year. Check for cracks, loose bricks. Use metal containers for ashes.

Don't allow rubbish, papers, magazines or other combustibles to collect in alleys, closets or cellars.

Keep portable heaters clean, place them so they cannot be tipped over.

Put a metal screen in front of the fireplace.

Never use gasoline for cleaning or starting a fire. If you must dry-clean at home, use cleaning fluids bearing the approved label.

look around and remedy weak spots which might result in tragedy and the loss of the home.

"There are only a few ways in which you and your family can help to make your house fire safe.

"Now, during this prevention week, is an excellent time to start.

"Yours will be a merry Christmas, made happier by the peace of mind that comes with the knowledge that your home is better protected against the scourge of fire," fire officials stress.

Victoria Scene Of Fire Chiefs' Parley

Victoria will be the scene of the annual convention of the Dominion Fire Chiefs' Association in September next year. It has been reported by Victoria's Fire Chief Robert T. Brindle, British Columbia provincial vice-president of the association. The conference will bring fire officials here from all over Canada.

Homes Burn Through Carelessness In 'Little Things'

Ninety per cent of household fires are preventable because they are caused by ordinary household hazards that can be corrected with care.

That is being stressed in schools and at organization meetings the breadth and length of the continent this week as fire authorities, in the throes of their annual "Fire Prevention Week" campaign, urge the public to become more fire-safety conscious.

In Canada last year 70 per cent of all building fires broke out in the home "and carelessness and indifference in little things causes most of the trouble," Greater Victoria fire chiefs emphasize.

Leading cause of fire in the home is still matches and smoking—nearly one-third of all fires started because someone left a cigarette lying on a table or smoked in bed or did any number of careless things with cigarettes and matches.

Community Chest Service To Humanity

Greater Victoria's Community Chest is a $150,000 business for providing service to humanity. Joseph Brindley, secretary of the chest's current campaign, told members of the Cosmopolitan Club at a meeting Thursday night in the Club Sirocco.

Explaining why persons should contribute to the campaign, Mr. Brindley struck out at those who refuse to donate to the drive on the basis that some of the recipient organizations are composed of persons of faiths other than their own.

"If you see a man starving in the gutter, you don't ask him his religion or where he came from. You help him," he said. "That is what the chest does."

Miss Mildred Wright, director of the Children's Aid and Family Welfare Society, also addressed the club on the need for wholehearted public support to the Community Chest.

Most Fire Victims Children Under Four

Children under four years of age are the most frequent victims of fire, according to fire chiefs who have followed the records on fires in Canada.

They point out that 28 per cent of all persons who are burned to death are four years old or younger, although only 8 per cent of the population is in the same age group.

Steps Being Taken To Offset Russian Canned Salmon Move

OTTAWA (CP) — Fisheries Minister Mayhew said Thursday in the Commons steps are being taken to see what can be done about marketing the 1950 Canadian salmon pack.

He made the statement after Howard Green (P.C.-Vancouver Quadra) had asked for comment on reports that Russia had renewed competition in the market for canned salmon.

"If that report is correct the results may be extremely detrimental to our own salmon industry," said Mr. Green.

(The Fisheries Department in a review Wednesday of marketing conditions said Russia had entered the salmon export market "with considerable quantities," but the extension of the Soviet competition was not yet known.)

Replying to Mr. Green, the minister said:

"A couple of months ago we sold Great Britain 410,000 cases of canned salmon from the 1949 pack. That pack has not been completed yet, so what my honorable friend is worrying about now is not the 1949 pack but the 1950 pack, and already steps are being taken to see what can be done about that."

Mr. Green said the news report indicated the Russians had devalued their money to correspond with the British devaluation and it was expected they would get into the overseas salmon market in a large way.

"I can assure the honorable member that the position will be watched carefully, and that everything possible is being done to protect the interests of Canadian fishermen from coast to coast," said Mr. Mayhew.

Mayhew Watching U.S. Move To Cut Fresh Fish Imports

OTTAWA (CP) — Fisheries Minister Mayhew Thursday night told the Commons his department was watching closely attempts of United States fish interests to block Canadian exports of fresh fish to the U.S.

The minister made the statement after a Newfoundland member—C. F. Higgins (P.C., St. John's East)—had expressed concern at what he said were attempts by Massachusetts fishery interests to cut down Canadian exports.

Mr. Mayhew said U.S. fish men had tried last year to get the Canadian export quota on fresh fish reduced. He presumed they now were trying to do the same. The situation was being watched closely.

The discussion developed during committee discussion of a resolution preliminary to a bill providing for changes in the Fish Inspection Act. The House adopted the resolution and later gave first reading to the amending bill.

The minister said the proposed amendments are necessary to clarify the federal government's power to carry out inspection.

Howard Green (P.C., Vancouver-Quadra) pressed for more information from the minister on the Newfoundland fisheries.

Mr. Mayhew said he would not answer questions in detail until the bill in question was under consideration.

Mr. Green declared that was "an attempt to cut down the rights of this House, and that's not good enough."

Council Draws Fire Of Property Owners

Members of the Greater Victoria Property Owners' Association expressed definite ideas on how the city should be run at their meeting at the Hard of Hearing Hall, 1416 Douglas Street, Thursday night.

For more than an hour the City Council was literally hauled over the coals for its general policies and, more specifically, for its ideas on how to conduct a civic election, handling of transportation fare increase matters, raising of water rates and the report of an outside firm on adoption of a city manager.

FOR MORE POLLING BOOTHS

Robert McFarlane was critical of a lengthy letter to the organization from City Clerk Frank Hunter which gave reasons why the city only operated one polling booth (in the Public Market) for civic elections.

"Mr. Hunter forgets the old folks who would deem it a pleasure to vote if there was a polling station near their homes," he said, adding "and besides, that old market smells something terrible."

The speaker said: "They've got old worn-out politicians with high collars opening and closing the doors at the market during an election—the system of voting is so antiquated (the City Council) are ashamed to admit it—it's like everything else they tackle—no sense to it."

Mr. McFarlane sat down amid nods of approval from many of the 20 fellow-members present.

There followed suggestions that a number of polling booths be set up for civic elections as in provincial and federal elections and that transportation "other than that supplied by alderman seeking votes" be supplied to take people to the market on election day.

It was finally decided to send the city clerk a letter outlining the ideas voiced at the gathering.

WANT MANAGER

Objections were voiced to the spending of an amount they said was $30,000 for the month-long investigation and subsequent report of the firm of Stevenson and Kellog. The property owners agreed, however, that a city manager was needed.

It was felt by some, however, he should be a local man and not an outsider—although one lady thought it might be better to bring in someone from outside "who did not know the council."

Others thought there were many suitable men in the city who could have carried out the investigation for a much smaller sum.

"I could have told them what was wrong for nothing," was the determined statement of one member.

Regarding proposed increases in transit fares, members of the association passed a motion protesting the "hasty action of the city council and its transportation committee in railroading the transportation committee's report on the matter through the council meeting."

"It is the people who do not vote who elect our aldermen," "Our City Council has cowboys on its feet," were comments made during the meeting.

Harold Ker, association president, was in the chair.

Commencing Monday, Oct. 17, the Victoria Public Library will be open all day Monday.

Australian Women Fight Soil Losses

ADELAIDE, Australia (CP)—Australian country women are planning tree-planting programs to combat soil erosion in rural areas.

In South Australia, the Country Women's Association has already started a systematic reforestation campaign. Six of their members are supervising a tree-planting scheme which began before the Second World War.

Each member of the association is asked to plant at least three trees a year to help beautify the countryside and replace those trees being used in industry. This year's target is 20,000 trees.

To carry out this program, catalogues are sent to rural women, giving details of trees most suitable for various localities. The planters order the trees through the Country Women's Association headquarters in Adelaide.

The woods and forest department of the South Australian government sells the saplings from their nursery to the association at cost price and also pays freight to the women's homes.

The Country Women's Association has branches in all six states of Australia, and a total membership of 90,000 women. Other states are now planning to follow South Australia's lead.

Woman Makes Staff Of Famed Gazette

NEW YORK (AP)—Jeane Hoffman, 29-year-old sports writer, will become executive editor of the Police Gazette on Monday. She is the first woman ever to hold a key executive post with the publication, which was launched a century ago.

Harold L. Roswell, editor and publisher of the monthly magazine, said in announcing Miss Hoffman's appointment that the job is a newly-created one made necessary by expansion of the size of the publication and a return to major emphasis on sports. A native of Los Angeles, Miss Hoffman began her sports-writing career as a cartoonist and writer for the Hollywood Citizen-News 13 years ago. At age of 16, she was the youngest writer to cover Pacific Coast League baseball.

Leaves, Branches And Plasticine Used In Floral Arrangements

Expensive and delicate blooms are not always important in the creation of attractive floral arrangements, states Toronto's Lois Wilson who, with a few deft twists of her wrist, creates artistic displays from any materials at hand—a spray of wild broom, leaves, field flowers, even the boughs of evergreens.

Most important, explained Mrs. Wilson, who accompanied her husband, J. R. Wilson, formerly of Vancouver, to this coast on a business trip, are mechanical props. For these she often uses a blob of plasticine and a pin holder; the plasticine to hold the latter firmly in the container.

This is her first trip to the west coast and she declares British Columbia is "a Paradise with its wealth of natural greenery."

In Victoria, the autumn-tinted vines on the Empress Hotel, the "monkey puzzle" trees in many old gardens, laurel and ivy hedges and the huge oaks have all "completely enchanted" the eastern visitor, and already she has gathered pails and buckets full of foliage for shipment home, where she says "from now until early spring there is practically no greenery."

TWO DISPLAY TYPES

Mrs. Wilson's floral arrangements follow two main classes: the "mass" which she displays with cedar boughs, Madrona (or arbutus as it is commonly known) and Oregon grape, in a huge circular copper container. And the "line," depicting a clean, graceful sweep.

Her skill with these and with "dried" arrangements, led her to the writing of an article, complete with illustrations, for a national magazine.

Mother of three small children, the youngest seven months, Mrs. Wilson still finds time to take active interest in Toronto's Garden Club, which she proudly tells you is now affiliated with the Federated Garden Club of America.

Her hobby means "fun and relaxation," and she makes the most of all opportunities for travel, for new scenery opens whole new vistas for her talented fingers and lively imagination. "I accompany my husband on business trips, and when he's busy, I'm poking into all the quaint little shops and stores, ferreting out new and different containers," she explains. At present the expert is keenly interested in miniature arrangements, and displays several tiny vases, reward for hours of searching the local shops, which will eventually be used in her new designs.

A spray of wild broom and a few mullen leaves have been transformed by the skillful fingers of Mrs. J. R. Wilson into a graceful "line" arrangement.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, guests at Oak Bay Beach Hotel, are visiting the former's uncle and aunt, Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Wilson. They will leave at the week-end, en route to their eastern home.

Telephone Bridge — Tuesday evening the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter I.O.D.E., made plans for a telephone bridge to be held this month. Mrs. F. Spencer will act as convener of the affair. Response to an appeal for material for food parcels has been so successful, reported the postwar convener, that parcels can now be sent overseas for Christmas. Following the business meeting, members packed nursery bags for children's use in hospitals overseas.

Vancouver Ceremony Unites Marjorie Daniel, N. D. Cameron

Victoria shares interest with Vancouver, the home of the bride, in the marriage yesterday evening at 8 o'clock in that mainland city, of Marjorie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Daniel and Newton D. Cameron, Victoria, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Cameron, Los Angeles, who came from California especially for the ceremony.

Rev. J. Whinfield Robinson heard the marriage vows, exchanged in candlelight, at St. Helen's Anglican Church, decorated for the occasion with white chrysanthemums and bright autumn leaves. It was a fully choral service with organ music played by Harry Strothers.

The bridal gown was of white velvet styled with decollete neckline, and full-length sleeves edged alike with embroidered nylon lace. From a fitted bodice a gently flaring skirt cascaded into a full-length train of unpressed pleats. An illusion net veil fell from a crown of orange blossoms that was three-quarters of a century old. An arm bouquet of gardenias, stephanotis and ivy completed the ensemble.

Mr. Daniel gave his daughter in marriage.

CHERRY RED VELVET

Matron of honor, Mrs. R. S. Codrington of South Bend, Ind., the bride's sister, and bridesmaids Miss Arlene Nimmons and Miss Margaret Carroll were dressed alike in cherry red velvet with white lace pillbox style hats, matching gloves and bouquets of roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Richard M. Laird, Victoria, was best man and ushers, William C. Mearns, Victoria and Thomas G. Wright.

Royal Vancouver Yacht Club was scene of the reception where white, yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, and ferns were used as decoration. J. Courtney Haddock proposed the bridal toast.

Following a honeymoon in California for which they left by plane, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron will live in Victoria. The bride traveled in a grey suit, navy topcoat, hat and accessories.

Other out-of-town guests were Roy Westerfield, Scotland Neck, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cameron, Miss Olive Cameron, Mrs. W. C. Mearns, the groom's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lawson and Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Skillings, all of Victoria.

Canada, U.S. Considering Big Dam On Kootenay River

OTTAWA (CP)—What may become the biggest international waterways dam in North America is being considered for construction by Canada and the United States on the border between B.C. and Montana.

The International Joint Commission, weighing plans for the project, said in a statement Thursday the dam was of the "greatest interest" to both countries.

The dam will be "strategically located" on the Kootenay River in B.C. and Montana.

The statement added: "It will afford complete flood protection to all lands in the Kootenay Valley below the dam and will contribute very substantially to the control of floods on the lower Columbia River where the bulk of the damage occurs."

GREAT HEIGHT

While the exact height of the dam has not been finally determined, Senator A. O. Stanley, U.S. chairman of the commission, estimated it would be "several hundred feet high."

It is not expected to be as large as the Grand Coulee Dam, some distance to the south in the State of Washington. Built in 1938, the Grand Coulee structure stands 550 feet high and has a capacity of 10,200,000 cubic yards of water.

For the west-coast dam work already has been started on aerial reconnaissance, mapping, establishment of gauging stations exploration of dam sites and storage possibilities and various other activities," the commission said.

Known as the "Libby Project," the dam and its site have been explored by the United States Corps of Engineers.

While not "finally determined," the capacity of the dam's reservoir is expected to be "relatively large."

The commission said the dam will raise the water level at the boundary, thus causing the reservoir to extend several miles into British Columbia, "the exact distance being dependent on the height to which the dam is built."

Besides tending to increase the available power supply in the region, the project also "will afford complete flood protection to all lands in the Kootenay Valley."

COMING WEST

The five-man commission and 30-odd technicians Thursday completed a three-day semi-annual meeting and prepared to move westward to inspect various boundary-water projects on the prairies.

Reviewing work so far this year, the commission received reports from boards and engineers, but said it still was too early to make recommendations on pollution and other problems to the government of both countries.

Plan Committee For Safety Drive

NANAIMO—A permanent committee will be formed to keep the recently organized courtesy safety campaign for motorists and pedestrians continually before the public, it was decided at a meeting of Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce, Thursday.

Assistance of teen-agers, school children and civic organizations will be sought. The public became safety conscious after the campaign was first launched but interest appeared to be waning, George Benwell, originator of the movement here, said.

The intersection at the northern outlet of Terminal Avenue and Comox Road and Bridge Street, leading to Newcastle townsite was discussed as dangerous, by the meeting. Members felt it was hazardous for school children during lunch hours and when children go skating at the arena.

Nanaimo To Choose Six School Sites

NANAIMO—School sites at Brechin, Wellington, Lantzville, Chase River, Departure Bay and Quarterway districts will be selected, and plans for building a new high school on land acquired at Camp Nanaimo completed, at a special meeting of Nanaimo and district school board here Monday night.

Department of Education must ratify the sites before the by-law is placed before Nanaimo and rural district ratepayers.

Construction of Nanaimo's third primary school, to cost $75,000, is progressing it was reported to the school board meeting. A tentative date of Oct. 26 has been set as the official opening date for the now completed second primary school, the Princess Royal.

It was decided to place school janitors on duty Halloween night to safeguard school property from pranksters.

Ratepayers Urge Agriculture Course

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—A short course in agriculture for those students who may not be academically qualified to take the existing courses in agriculture was urged in the University of British Columbia in a resolution passed at a meeting of South Cowichan Taxpayers' Association here.

The short course was suggested with a view to formation later of a school of agriculture in the province.

Improvements to secondary roads were asked of the Department of Public Works in a resolution. Removal of the school tax from land will be embodied in a resolution to be drafted by the executive and presented to the next meeting of the Association.

Minister Nominated

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP)—A Coalition convention Thursday night named Hon. Charles E. Greenlay, Minister of Labor, to contest the Portage la Prairie riding at the Nov. 10 provincial general election.

Pleads Guilty To Ornament Theft

After pleading guilty to theft of a silver Chinese junk from a municipal storage shed, John Cambrey, 1000 Tattersall Drive, was remanded to next Thursday afternoon for sentence by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court yesterday.

Evidence was that accused sold the junk for $20 to a city antique dealer, who in turn sold it for $60. James J. Proudfoot, defence counsel, called character witnesses and appealed for a suspended sentence as it was accused's first offence.

Counsel said Cambrey had given enough money to reimburse the owner.

TOURIST'S CAR ROBBED

Pat Larson, Houser Boulevard, Los Angeles, Calif., reported to city police Thursday that his car was broken into Wednesday night while it was parked in the Empress Hotel driveway. All that was stolen was a pair of pliers and a wrench. The glove compartment was jimmied open to get these.

Launch Campaign Today To Boost Ladysmith

LADYSMITH—A drive to boost Ladysmith as a shopping district was launched today by the Ladysmith district Chamber of Commerce, under the title of "Community Shopping Days."

Merchants co-operated in sending out 3,000 copies of an eight-page flyer to city and surrounding districts in an effort to draw the country trade by publicizing the fact that Ladysmith "has good stores and good merchandise."

Motorists Pay $240 In Saanich

The Saanich police crack-down on motorists who exceed the speed limit and violate other traffic laws, continues unabated.

This was shown in the municipal police court Thursday afternoon when $240 was collected in small traffic fines. Nine motorists were fined $15 each for exceeding the speed limits and six paid $10 each for passing on the double line, to account for the larger portion of the total.

Bins Of All Sorts Used To Store U.S. Corn Crop

CHICAGO (AP)—The Midwest, United States has a new crop this year—storage bins. Wooden bins, steel bins, aluminum bins, all kinds and types of bins, have sprouted up from the corn belt earth.

The bins are needed to store corn. Unless corn is stored in a bin, farmers can't get a loan from the government on their grain. And the price for corn at markets is much less than the government will loan on it.

In addition to building new bins, farmers are emptying out old ones. These bins have stored 1948 crop corn. Now, farmers are turning that corn over to the government in preparation for housing the 1949 crop.

The Midwest is bursting with corn. There never has been so much. This year's crop is only slightly less than last year's record, breaker. In addition, there's far more corn left from the previous crop than there was last year.

Corn production this year is estimated by the U.S. Agriculture Department at 3,477,000,000 bushels. From the 1948 crop, there are about 800,000,000 bushels still left. That gives a total corn supply of 4,300,000,000 bushels, by far the largest on record.

About two-thirds—or 556,000,000—of the corn left over from last year is now owned by the government. It must find space to put this corn.

Almost anything which is available and usable has been brought into play. In Indiana, unused, canning factories now are storing corn. Four or seven, buildings at the Sioux City, Iowa, airport now are corn elevators.

Come Back And 'Rattle'

Ginger, the 315-pound black wrestling bear from Tennessee, refuses to allow Tony Ross to escape in last night's special event of promoter Rocky Brooks' mat card at the Memorial Arena. The bear, after toying with Ross for six and three-quarter minutes, won the bout with a body press. Ginger just sat on Tony and the bout was over. Referee is Nick Harris.

Hockey Publication Picks Leafs, Wings For Top Spots In N.H.L.

By JACK SULLIVAN
It is Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings one-two in the 70-game National Hockey League marathon which winds up March 26. And, as last year, New York Rangers are headed for the bottom slot of the 'six-team circuit.

That's how 17 sports writers from the six N.H.L. cities called it in the Hockey News poll conducted just before the 5½-month scramble started. The blue-shirted Rangers would be a tremendous surprise if they struggled home any better than fourth place according to the writers' crystal-ball reckoning.

There was a bit of a ballot battle between Leafs and Wings for the first spot and, probably because Leafs beat the punch-drunk Wings in four straight for the Stanley Cup last year, they received the nod.

DANNY FOUND

Danny (C Form) Lewicki has bobbed up again. The 18-year-old player is working as a Canadian National Railways apprentice at Stratford, Ont.

A week ago today the National Hockey League and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association put the finger on him and suspended the Stratford, Ont., left-winger from hockey. Danny's crime: He refused to sign a pro contract with Toronto Leafs as set out in the C Form he signed with Leafs last July.

None of the principals has said anything for publication since the well-publicized heave-ho.

There must have been many cocked eyebrows when Danny named $10,000 a year for two seasons, plus a $2,500 bonus as his playing price for the Leafs. But it wasn't too startling in view of statements made about his playing by Conny Smythe, the Leafs' managing director, a few weeks ago.

PRAISE FOR DANNY

hockey school at St. Catharines, Ont., and Smythe, who is as canny a judge of hockey flesh as the next expert, said this of Danny and George Armstrong, who played for Toronto Marlboros, Leaf farm amateur club, last year:

"They're the best pair I've seen together since Charlie Conacher and Harvey Jackson. And that's a 20-year span." Of Lewicki alone, he said: "He looks more to me like Aurel Joliat than anybody I've seen."

Is it any wonder the left-wing dippy-doodler saw greenbacks before his eyes?

Joliat certainly was some shakes with Montreal Canadiens in the pre-war years. And who hasn't heard about the famous Toronto Leaf Joe Primeau-Conacher-Jackson kid line of the early thirties?

Rocket Roars As Hawks Blanked By Canadiens

Montreal Canadiens got off to a flying start in the young National Hockey League season with a perfect box-score record—four goals, no errors.

Their fiery right winger, Maurice (Rocket) Richard, drove home two goals in a brilliant display of his old form as Canadiens blanked the husky Chicago Black Hawks 4 to 0 last night at Montreal before 10,811 fans.

Sharing the Rocket's hour of glory was big Bill Durnan, whose shutout may well be the start of a string that will carry him to his sixth Vezina Trophy in seven seasons. The 34-year-old, ambidextrous native of Toronto, was flawless in the Montreal goal Thursday night as he repeatedly kept back the best the Hawks had to offer.

The game, the first of the schedule at Montreal, moved the Montrealers into a first-place tie with Detroit Red Wings, who defeated Boston Bruins 2 to 1 Wednesday night.

Despite the one-sided score the contest was battled at a feverish pace with Chicago always dangerous when inside the Montreal blue-line. But some heavy defence work by Kenny Reardon and Hawk's Ralph Natrass threatened to develop into some lively action as the players crowded around with high sticks.

Canadiens will get a chance to move into first place Saturday when they tackle New York Rangers at Montreal. Detroit Red Wings and Boston are idle. Last year's Stanley Cup winners, Toronto Maple Leafs, make their 1949-50 debut against Chicago Saturday at Toronto Gardens.

Summary follows:

Charles Puts Title On Block Tonight

Champion Favored To Defeat Long-Haired Rival; Expect Sell-Out Crowd

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Ebony Ezzard Charles, who aspires to the title of "fightingest champion of all time," will put his N.B.A. heavyweight crown on the block for the second time in two months tonight when he will battle Pat Valentino, a rough, tough local battle, in a 15-round bout at the Cow Palace.

The champion, trained down to a trim 180 pounds and claiming he is "needle sharp," will enter the ring at 5 to 1 favorite to whip long-haired Valentino, who will be fighting for the first time since he won the California heavyweight crown in December, 1948.

At least 17,000 are expected to pack the huge state-owned structure and pay in the neighborhood of $190,000 to see the go.

Weighing-in ceremonies take place at the State Athletic Commission offices at noon today, with Valentino expected to hold about a six-pound advantage.

PAST PEAK
There is little betting on the outcome of the match, because Valentino, who was anything but sensational in his 1948 bouts, is believed to have past his peak in the fight business.

At 29, he is a year older than the champion and he hasn't fought for 10 months. However, in his last three bouts, he won decisions over Freddie Beshore, Tony Bosnich and Turkey Thomson—the latter for the state heavyweight crown.

The challenger uses a boring style, tossing a lot of punches

Promoter William P. Kyne, handling northern California's first heavyweight championship match in 40 years, predicted a sell-out crowd will jam the Cow Palace for the event. A last-minute buying rush of rickets yesterday afternoon and last night resulted in the placing of 600 standing-room-only tickets on sale for $3 each.

At least 17,000 are expected to pack the huge state-owned structure and pay in the neighborhood of $190,000 to see the go.

Weighing-in ceremonies take place at the State Athletic Commission offices at noon today, with Valentino expected to hold about a six-pound advantage.

PAST PEAK
There is little betting on the outcome of the match, because Valentino, who was anything but sensational in his 1948 bouts, is believed to have past his peak in the fight business.

At 29, he is a year older than the champion and he hasn't fought for 10 months. However, in his last three bouts, he won decisions over Freddie Beshore, Tony Bosnich and Turkey Thomson—the latter for the state heavyweight crown.

The challenger uses a boring style, tossing a lot of punches to the middle section and with this system he hopes to wear the champ down and then apply the kayo punch.

However, Charles is known as a "wear down" fellow himself and it is the general belief that he may accomplish his purpose by the end of 10 rounds.

Both fighters took things easy yesterday and today and were pronounced in peak physical condition.

Win or lose, Charles will get $50,000 for his share of the purse, and of this he already has promised to donate $10,000 to the Livermore Veterans Hospital.

Kyne is turning over all net proceeds of the fight to the veterans.

SMALL PICKINGS
Win or lose, too, Valentino is getting only $5,000 for his share—and this is expected to be barely enough to cover training expenses. However, he has promised to give anything left to the veterans, too.

The featured preliminary will pit undefeated Grant Butcher, San Francisco heavyweight prospect who hopes to get a shot at the crown himself within the next year or two, against Billy Smith, former state light-heavy champion from Oakland, in a 10-round battle.

Powerful Royals Here For Tilt With Cougars

Following a stiff two-hour workout Thursday morning, coach Eddie Wares of the Cougars announced his club was in good shape for tonight's P.C.H.L. game with the New Westminster Royals at the Memorial Arena.

Royals, defending northern division champions, have a two and one record for the season, one victory being over the Cougars in the season's opener for both clubs.

On that occasion the Royals soundly drubbed the Cougars, 10 to 2, on Westminster ice. However, Cougars have improved greatly since that game and gave Vancouver Canucks quite a battle before losing out in their last start.

In Thursday's practice session Wares was using three forward combinations.

Bernie Strongman centred Eddie Mazur and Roy McKay on one unit, with Georges Bougie, Larry Thibault and Joe Evans seeing action on the second line.

Rookies Ken Gunter and Connie McBeth, worked with left-winger Alan Senior on the third combination.

NEW PLAYER?
It was also reported yesterday that the Cougars were negotiating for the services of left winger Bill Wilson of the Vancouver Canucks who was injured in training camp and has not yet seen any league action.

However, no deal for the Vancouver player has been completed as yet.

Wilson injured two ribs while training and is expected to be out of action for a two-week period.

PRATT COACHING ROYALS
Heading the New Westminster sextette is a former National League stalwart, defenceman and team coach Walter "Babe" Pratt. The Babe first joined professional hockey ranks, in 1935 with none other than Cougar coach Wares.

Pratt will team up with Fred Valenti on one defence line, while Bobby Bergeron and Bud Ritchie form the other. Kenny Ulliyot, who played here with the R.C.A.F. Seahawks, and recog nized as one of the loop's leading scoring threats, will centre the Royals' first string line, flanking Ollie Drophoy and Ray Voll.

Second forward combination will see two former V.M.D. pucksters return to local ice, Maurice Duffy and Dutchy Evers, both wingers. They will be centred by Bobby Love. Third forward line will be chosen from Don Slater, Amy Dufault, Norm Kirk and Ken Cook.

FOUR HOME GAMES
The locals will journey to Tacoma to meet Muzz Patrick's Rockets on Saturday night, and then return for a four-game stand against Vancouver on Oct. 18, Tacoma on Oct. 21, Los Angeles of the southern division on Oct. 25 and Portland on Oct. 28 before hitting the road for Port land and Seattle on Oct. 29 and 30.

Senior A Cage Wars Begin Anew Saturday

Victoria and District Basketball League swings into full-scale action tomorrow night at the Vic High gym with a three-game card on the schedule. Games are billed Monday, Wednesday and Saturday of next week.

Highlighting tomorrow's card will be the senior A clash between the only two entries, Y.M.C.A. and Arrow Furniture, the latter being last year's K.V.'s. Game time is 9.

Preliminaries will see St. Louis College and Victoria College Vikings, intermediate A men's clubs, open the card at 7, with a senior B tilt between Fletcher's Men's Shop and the Navy scheduled an hour later.

EXHIBITION HERE NOV. 5
League secretary Tommy Carson announced today that he is attempting to bring either the Alpine Dairy or another Seattle quintette here for an exhibition with one of the senior A clubs on Nov. 5.

It was decided at a recent meeting that both West Heat and R.C.E.M.C. would be retained in the city senior B men's section, making it a nine-team loop.

A protest issued by Alberni on the legality of Victoria High School entering the intermediate A ranks was referred to President Harry Chapman of the B.C. Amateur Basketball Association.

Ruling says that any school player registered with a commercial team could not compete in provincial high school playoffs, and any high school team in the

Grid Interest Centres On Clash Between Stampeders And Eskimos

Gridiron warfare breaks out on nine fronts in Canada this weekend.

Each of the Dominion's four major football leagues have scheduled two Saturday games in the weekly bid for grid honors and the interest of cash customers.

A postponed Big Four game also is being picked up in a Sunday fixture billed for Montreal.

Here's what pickskin followers have to choose from this weekend:

BIG FOUR
Saturday—Ottawa Roughriders at Hamilton Wildcats; Montreal Alouettes at Toronto Argonauts.

Sunday—Hamilton at Montreal.

Q.R.F.U.
Windsor Rockets at Toronto Balmy Beach; Hamilton Tigers at Sarnia Imperials.

WESTERN CONFERENCE
Edmonton Eskimos at Calgary Stampeders; Saskatchewan Roughriders at Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Senior Intercollegiate—Toronto Varsity at McGill; Western at Queens.

Of the 16 clubs in action, only three still remain undefeated in league play this season—Calgary, Toronto Varsity and Western.

Main interest in the rough-and-tumble Western Conference this weekend is centred on the swashbuckling Calgary Stampeders, bidding for their 10th straight league victory this season.

Fans' interest in the contest against coach Annis Stukus' third-place Eskimos climbed rapidly following Edmonton's surprise 12 to 11 Thanksgiving Day win over the powerful Regina Roughriders.

An Edmonton victory and a Regina defeat at the hands of Winnipeg's once-powerful Bombers would leave Eskimos only two points back of the second-place Roughriders.

Ginger is still the undefeated wrestling champion of the world today.

Unbeaten in six months of competition, the two-year-old 315-pound wrestling black bear from Tennessee last night had little trouble in maintaining her unblemished record when she pinned "Gentleman" Tony Ross in just under seven minutes in the feature attraction of Rocky Brooks' first wrestling card of the season at the Memorial Arena.

Ginger, one of five bears owned by Les Welch, showed a willingness to mix it in the ring and although muzzled and hampered by clipped toenails gave the 185-pound Mr. Ross all he could handle.

Twice a gentle pat of the paw sent Ross reeling across the ring and through the ropes. Maybe that was the reason ringside benches and tables were moved back prior to the bout. Ross never did get the upper hand and local members of the S.P.

C.A. in attendance—they didn't want to see the bear hurt—were feeling a little sorry for Ross and not the bear when the bout was over.

Following his victory over Ross, Ginger issued a challenge to anyone in the house, but there were no takers.

ATLAS WINNER
In the feature bout of the card the Great Atlas proved too strong for George Strickland and won by taking two falls out of three. Atlas, a heavily muscled man with arms the size of Strickland's legs, took the final fall with a full nelson following several body butts.

The tag-team-match went to Stocky Neilson and Jack Fisher over Welch and Dan Duggan.

"GORGEOUS GEORGE COMING"
Next Thursday's card will be headlined by the famous "Gorgeous George," of whom much has been written and who is just about the most colorful performer in the ring today.

CLIPPERS BOW TO KELLOWNA IN MAINLINE LEAGUE PUCK TILT

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Kelowna Packers Thursday night defeated Nanaimo Clippers 5 to 3 in a Mainline Senior hockey contest here before 2,000 fans.

It was the first game for Nanaimo in league play as they started their swing through the interior. The win left the Packers undefeated in two starts and pulled them up into a tie with Kamloops Elks for the league lead. Both have a win and a tie.

Nanaimo opened the scoring in the first period when Jack O'Hara beat goalie LaFace at the 11:15 mark. Kelowna came right back at 14:45 on a bullet shot by Hoskins. Clippers went one up again at 16:23 as Gourdau scored on a three-way pass-bout with Warwick and Ramsden.

Bud Gourdau finished the first period scoring with two quick goals for Kelowna.

Kelowna got the only goal of the second period at 3:45 when Knippleberg scored on a neat pass from Mittle.

The Clippers got one back at 2:10 of the third period when McLean rammed the net on passes from O'Hara and Gilmour. Kelowna clinched matters at 12:50 when Hanson beat goalie Hendry on a pass from Hoskins and Gourdau to end the scoring.

Clippers appear in Vernon Friday and in Kamloops Saturday before returning home.

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—St. Paul Saints opened the United States Hockey League season last night where it left off in last year's playoffs, defeating Tulsa Oilers 2 to 1. The Saints took the 1948 playoff championship with four straight victories over the Oilers.

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Jackie Graves, 128½, Austin, Minn., outpointed Glen Flanagan, 128½, St. Paul (10).

Heath Considers Offer To Play With Seattle Club

BOW, Wash. (AP)—Jeff Heath, the one-time Garfield High school baseball star in Seattle who by-passed Seattle's Coast League team on his way to major league stardom, may wind up with Seattle at long last.

He admitted at his farm here Thursday he is considering an offer to play with Rainiers, who offered him management of one of the Braves' farm clubs.

"But I feel I still have a few playing years ahead of me," he says.

He pronounced as okay the apple he snapped late in the 1948 season after he'd helped the Braves to the National League pennant.

"I missed the last three weeks of this season, but that was because of a pulled side muscle," he explained.

Heath was signed by Cleveland shortly after he graduated from Garfield. He spent a year at Zanesville, O., before going to the big wheel to stay. He's also played for Washington Senators and St. Louis Browns. He'll be 34 years-old next April.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UP)—Sammy Walker, 150, Springfield, Mass., stopped Jackie Lovatt, 153, Providence (4).

Vic High, Esquimalt Score Cage Victories

The Interhigh Junior Basketball League opened yesterday much along the same lines as the senior rugby loop—the day before with three one-sided results being turned in.

Victoria High School Reds trounced Mount View, 43 to 14, Esquimalt High crushed Oak Bay Whites, 30 to 7, and Vic High Colds took Mount Douglas into camp by the tune of 86 to 18.

Playing at their home gym, the Reds had little trouble with Mount View. Winners held a narrow 6 to 4 lead at the quarter and increased it to 24 to 6 at the half-way mark. Norm Forbes with eight points paced Reds, while Roger Windle topped losers with six.

BIG EARLY LEAD

In the Esquimalt-Oak Bay tussle, dockyarders amassed a 16 to 3 lead at the breather and were never in trouble through out. Ted Saunders and Pete Doherty led the point parade with 10 and eight, respectively.

Pete Zarzy and Barry Mills ran wild to score 23 and 21 points respectively in the Golds-Mount Douglas tilt. George Woollett was next in line for the city squad with 15.

It was announced that Central Junior High will enter the loop, bringing the total up to six teams. Central squad will tackle the idle Oak Bay Greens at a later date.

Teams and scores follow:

Mount View—Howell 2, Stoner, Knudsen, Prince 2, Cunningham, Cambe 2, Price 2, Lander, Windle 6.
Vic H. Red—Saunders 10, Doherty 8, Forbes 8, Burt, Donaghy 5, Bob Abbott 1, Jenner 2, Kuchner 2, Bill Abbot 2, Hamilton 2, Anderson 2, Oak Bay White—McKenzie 3, Stur, Cross, Mitchell 4, Corney, Williams 1, Wright 1, Francis, Dixon 1.
Finner, Hopkins 10.
Esquimalt—Saunders 10, Doherty 8, Robertson 2, Dobble 6, Risterniz, Bennett, Hancock, Silviks 2, Gilt 2.

Tran Latest Of Caps Sold To Rainiers

VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP)—Capitano second baseman Len Tran will don the uniform of the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers when baseball time rolls around again.

Sale of the second sacker, who batted .329 last season for the Western International League Caps, was announced Thursday by general manager Bob Brown.

Brown said Tran went to the Seattle club for an unannounced sum and players, the identity of whom will not be known until next spring.

Tran is the third member of the Capitanos to be sold to Seattle since the end of the W.I.L. season.

Pitcher Vern Kindsfater and outfielder Dick Sinovic also have been sold.

Brucker Sought As Rainiers' Manager

SEATTLE (AP)—Earle Brucker, fired by Philadelphia Athletics today, will be sounded out by Seattle Rainiers tonight on whether he would be interested in managing Seattle next year.

Earl Sheely, Rainier business manager, said he planned to call Brucker at the latter's San Diego home.

Brucker caught for Seattle in the late 20's and clubbed .339 for the championship Portland Beavers in 1936. He went up to the A's thereafter as a player, and coached the last several years, until bounced yesterday.

Seattle fired Joyner (Jo Jo) White last July and finished out the season under coach Bill Lawrence. A search for a "big name" manager has been under way since. White this week wound up as business manager of the Sacramento Coast League entry.

SOCCER LINE-UP

Beacon Taxi's starting line-up for Sunday's division two juvenile soccer game with Whiteys at Heywood Avenue will be selected from the following: Anderson, Wetherell, Fawcett, Brown, Lawson, McMillan, Blevins, Jones, Adams, Massie, Hepburn, Laidlaw, Burgess, Joyce, Cruickshank, Henn and Thorn.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—Leftover reports from World Series visitors—nothing guaranteed: One midwestern writer insists that the Indians won't be sold soon because they already have been sold. No hint as to the identity of the buyers except that Hank Greenberg doesn't figure in the deal. . . . Another informant says the reason why Branch Rickey has been peddling so many players is that the Dodgers are really hard up for ready cash to pay off some loans.

The farm system has been expensive and Rickey and the other Brooklyn owners are said to be at odds on the subject of cutting down agricultural operations.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

The American League, with 10,804,531 panned off some 345,568, with Cleveland dropping 386,756 from its all-time record of a years ago.

Miracle Of Wheat Being Shown Tonight

"God Is My Landlord," a 16-mm. sound film in color, will be presented tonight at 8 in the Central Baptist Church, Pandora Avenue.

The film tells the story of the growth of one cubic inch of wheat to 72,150 bushels over a period of six years in the now world-famous Dynamic Kernels Foundation tithing experiment. Farm equipment used in this pageant of harvesting was brought from the Ford Museum in Greenfield Village and represents the complete cycle of harvesting machinery developed since Biblical times.

It is the first time that wheat was cut, threshed, milled, flown 100 miles by helicopter, baked, returned and eaten within the same afternoon.

City Manager Plan Subject Of Talks By Toastmasters

A subject on the lips of many citizens these days—the proposal to employ a city manager—received an airing at the meeting of the Victoria Toastmasters Club, No. 38, at the Strathcona Hotel, Thursday evening.

Toastmaster H. T. MacGregor directed specific questions to various members on the topic, and a cross-section of opinions were forthcoming.

In answer to the question "Do you think the city manager idea would be an advantage to Victoria?" J. T. Potts voiced approval saying he thought it was the only solution to the city's problems.

HARD TO FIND

E. G. Hartman, asked whether he would favor a resident or an outsider as city manager, was undecided but thought the right man would be hard to find. He noted it was more important the proper man be hired regardless of whether or not he was a resident.

Likelihood that the type of man required for the city manager job would be a graduate from an American university who had specialized in civic administration courses was voiced by G. S. Olson.

Asked if he thought the hiring of the firm of Stevenson & Kellogg to give its findings on the problems was a wise move, D. M. Trew replied he thought the City Council was "weak" and had proved itself by having to hire the firm.

He added that the system of city government would continue to be weak even with a manager and suggested it was the council itself which required improvement.

Regarding salary for a city manager, Col. D. McGugan suggested the sum of $10,000 per annum as reasonable.

Panel Discussion On Arts Tonight

Request For Second Victoria Radio Station To CBC Soon

The CBC board of governors will hear in Winnipeg next Tuesday the application of David M. Armstrong for a license to operate a second radio station in Victoria.

James J. Proudfoot, Victoria lawyer, will appear with Mr. Armstrong before the board and they will present statistics and arguments in support of the application.

The City Council is supporting the former Victorian in his efforts to secure broadcasting rights here.

Mr. Armstrong, an executive of the New Westminster radio station, plans operation of a 250-watt station to serve the Greater Victoria area with a variety of programs and features on community activities.

STATION NEEDED

He believes that 100,000 population of Greater Victoria needs a second radio station. The city of St. John and surrounding

Canada Needs Botanic Garden Dr. Gusow Tells Institute

It is unfortunate that Canada has not yet realized the intrinsic value of providing at least one botanic garden, to do for Canada what Kew has done for England, according to Dr. H. T. Gusow, former Dominion botanist and enthusiastic plant grower of Ten Mile Point.

Dr. Gusow was speaking to the Victoria and Islands Branch of the Agricultural Institute of Canada, at a meeting in the farmer's pavilion, Saanichton Experimental Station. He was introduced by Dr. W. Newton.

Stressing the need for a real botanic garden in Canada, the speaker prefaced his remarks with a collection of slides showing Kew at bluebell time and Dublin in daffodil time. Canada lacks a place where the flora of the world can be collected and their biological aspects studied in detail, he said.

"These fundamental and basic investigations alone lead to a knowledge of the vastly important properties of plants which are the precursors to their being turned to the use and benefit of humanity," said Dr. Gusow.

TWO ACHIEVEMENTS

"The two best-known achievements of Kew are the distribution of quinine-yielding trees to Ceylon and India and the introduction of the rubber tree to the East Indies.

"The first was the basis for the British system through which a dose of this antimalarial drug could be obtained for a nominal charge at any post office in an infested district. The second was the basis of the great rubber industry of Malaya."

If a Canadian scientist needs a collection of world-wide species he must beg it from other countries that have botanic gardens, Dr. Gusow said.

"When Canada depends so much upon plants of the field, forest and sea for her replaceable wealth, it is sad to reflect we are about the only important country in the world without at least one real botanic garden," he continued.

TO SUPPORT BRIEF

Dr. Gusow told members a brief had been submitted by section five of the Royal Society of Canada to the Royal Commission on Arts and Science, urging that at least one national botanic garden be established in Canada.

A group of qualified members will attend the sittings of the Royal Commission to urge the implementation of this recommendation without delay.

Dr. Dave Hunter announced a meeting for specialists to get together would be held in Victoria, Oct. 18, to commemorate the University Trek of last year. Hon. Vincent Massey and other members of the Royal Commission on Arts and Science are expected, he said.

Cost to the city of the Stevenson and Kellogg report will be approximately $2200, it was reported from the comptroller's department today.

Bill from the company for the month-long survey of the administration has not been received, but when the company was employed to bring down a report for greater efficiency of operation, it was agreed to pay $2,000 plus traveling expenses.

The company has offered to implement its report, which centres on the employment of a director of administration, at a cost to the city of between $30,000 and $40,000. It is held unlikely that the offer will be accepted, not without the question being decided by a vote of the people anyway.

CJVI Saturday at 1.25

Norm H. Parkins, advertising manager of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and finalist in a recent Canada-wide oratorical competition, speaks tomorrow (Saturday) at 1.25 p.m. over CJVI. The title of his speech is "The Story of Kathy Fiscus."

Cost to the city of the Stevenson and Kellogg report will be approximately $2200, it was reported from the comptroller's department today.

Cost to the city of the Stevenson and Kellogg report will be approximately $2200, it was reported from the comptroller's department today.

Instead of being called on to pay 10 per cent of their gate takings to the league funds, the Victoria, Nanaimo and New Westminster clubs will contribute only 5 per cent from their home games. All games played at Callister Park, Vancouver, however, will be subject to the 10 per cent deduction.

The Victoria-Vancouver traveling expense guarantee is to be cut from $215 to $185 per match.

Education Aid Given By Rotary Outlined

Rotary International's part in helping educate the youth of the countries in which it operates were described to Victoria Rotarians at their luncheon meeting Thursday by Peter Manning-Smith.

Mr. Manning-Smith, who is attached to the British Foreign Service offices in Seattle, comes from Sanbach, Eng.

He came to the United States to attend Harvard University, where he completed two years, first of which was under a Rotary Fellowship awarded through the Rotary Foundation.

The speaker outlined benefits and educational value of the scholarships made available by the service organization, though noting he found college life in the United States different from that of England.

Case Alleging Theft Of Saanich Gravel Remanded

Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon remanded Thomas Kirwan, trucking subcontractor on the Saanich road program, to next Thursday for judgment on a charge alleging theft of 25 truckloads of gravel from the municipally-owned pits at Cordova Bay.

Evidence was that the gravel used at Gladwell Motors Ltd., Quadra Street and Pandora Avenue, was trucked away before the accused asked municipal permission. However, Kirwan pointed out that when he went to the municipal offices, to pay the bill the municipality refused to accept payment. The court summons followed.

Witnesses at the gravel pit and from the trucks testified there was no secret that Kirwan was taking gravel to be used at Gladwell Motors.

Lloyd G. McKenzie, defence counsel, contended his client had no intent to defraud and acted in an open manner.

"It's an innocent misunderstanding the whole way through," counsel said.

Before remanding the case Magistrate Hall noted that the municipality had a certified cheque from accused in payment, which had neither been returned nor acknowledged.

Continue Search For Youbou Man

Provincial police reported today that the search for Charles Boys, 68-year-old resident of Youbou, is continuing. He has been the object of a search since he disappeared, improperly clothed for outdoors in the fall weather, early last Friday morning.

Car Crash Victim To Be Buried Here

Body of Aircraftman G. W. Carter, who died in Edmonton Wednesday as a result of a head-on automobile collision near Calgary Sept. 24, will be brought to Victoria for burial, it was learned today.

The airman, son of Mrs. A. Carter, 479 Jasmine Avenue, was moved from Calgary to Edmonton for specialist treatment early this month but died without fully regaining consciousness.

McCall Bros. are in charge of funeral arrangements.

Approve Scheme For 20 Duplexes For Old Folks

Saanich Council at a special meeting Thursday night gave the go-ahead signal to the plan to construct 20 duplexes in the Cedar Hill area for elderly couples.

Council approved rezoning of the three and one-half acres at the southwest corner of Cedar Hill Road and Cedar Hill Crossroad to allow for duplexes. Area was zoned for single-family dwellings.

Council made it clear that requirements of the sanitary inspector and engineer were to be followed to the letter to avoid trouble from septic tanks and storm water drainage. Residents of the area at the public hearing said they approved the plan provided there was no trouble from septic tanks and drainage. The duplexes are being erected by a limited non-profit company composed of Rev. Frederick Pike, P. H. D. Dawson, Maj. H. Nation and Miss Laura Holland. Duplexes will rent for $20 per couple.

Canvasser For Chest Ends Day With Potatoes, Pears

Community Chest canvassers may get sore feet and grow weary before the day is out, but they are privileged to drink deep of human relations.

A group of women canvassers gathered this morning at chest headquarters in Prince Robert House and as they fixed up their kits for another day's rounds they talked of their experiences.

"My vegetable Chinaman came to me and gave me $1 for the chest," one woman said. "I didn't ask him—I merely told him I'd been collecting for the chest."

"One man told me the government is spending so much money on the atomic bomb it can't look after the poor," said another woman. "I didn't argue that one—I couldn't."

"I ended up yesterday with a bag of potatoes and a bag of pears," reported another canvasser.

All the canvassers agree people are nice. They report they didn't know true friendliness existed until they started ringing door bells.

"Come on in and sit down, and we'll talk this over," is a frequent invitation.

One canvasser reported: "Some people don't appear—but you know they're in the house because you hear the dishes rattling."

Another said: "Some people feel they really cannot give—and I wouldn't press them. They know their own business better than anyone else."

"So often when someone gives $1 they say they wish it could be more and I know they're not fooling," reported another.

Canvassing is a great community effort. Women of every organization in the city are on the job—even representatives of groups that do not share in Community Chest funds, as, for instance, the St. John Ambulance Association.

INSTALLMENT 23 AN 'INCREDIBLE' THEORY

NOW—what luck? Pichon asked as he tucked his napkin into his collar in the manner of the French middle-class, preparatory to his meal with Dollimore in the Restaurant de la Rotonde.

"Not a great deal, I'm afraid. Still, I have had a very amusing day," added Dollimore. "You remember I told you about Flash Cardew?"

"Cardew? Of course. I followed your recital of the case with the closest interest. It is a peculiarity of my brain—or what passes for a brain—but I could repeat the story you told me in all its details—almost in your own phraseology."

"That must be an extraordinarily useful gift in our profession."

"I find it so. But tell me what has happened."

"Cardew was in Paris with Lewin—the man I want to get into touch with."

M. Pichon nodded: "This sole is not too bad?" he asked. "It's perfect, monsieur," Dollimore said simply.

"The theory you advanced which covered most of the facts was ingenious but I saw in it a weakness. You had given no reason why Lewin should disappear. On the contrary there was every reason why he should turn up in London and enter into his inheritance."

"Yes."

"Yet, if your theory is sound, there is some reason why he keeps away. His only crime—so far as you have indicated—was that of drinking to excess."

"Yes." Dollimore agreed with a certain hesitancy. "I thought that the lawyer, Rollier, was determined that we should not get into touch with him."

"But Rollier must have a reason for such extraordinary conduct. What do you suggest it is?"

"I don't know," Dollimore admitted.

"On the face of it, there can be no reason. Rollier, apparently acting as Lewin's lawyer, will—how do you say?—administer the inheritance—the estate?"

"Yes."

"Then what conceivable reason would he have for hiding Lewin? That is apparently what it amounts to."

"I can suggest nothing. But I am quite certain that he is extremely anxious that we should not get hold of him, that we should not interview him."

"You made that perfectly clear to me. Now, in my experience, when I am seeking a reason—a motive—for an intelligent man's conduct—and I assume that this Rollier is intelligent—I always try the obvious one first."

Dollimore waited.

"And in this case," the Frenchman went on, "the obvious one is that Lewin is dead."

Dollimore sat, with his wine glass half-way to his mouth, in sheer amazement. M. Pichon's remark seemed to have flooded the whole case with light.

"I never thought of it!" he exclaimed.

"Exactly. Yes, every fact you have mentioned to me indicates that Lewin is dead."

"But it's incredible!"

"The reason why Rollier does not mean you to see Lewin is that the man who, posing as Lewin, will inherit the dead lady's considerable wealth is not Lewin at all. There's a pretty little plot—and it fits in with all the known facts."

"And Miss Stenning is the one person who has seen him?" Dollimore gasped. "The one person in touch with us who could spoil this dastardly plan."

"That is not of the first importance, Inspector, in my opinion. Lewin, I fancy, will have gone abroad. Rollier will hear from him in some convenient place like New York, for example, and will act for him in London. What does matter is that Miss Stenning knows of the existence of the will which, if it turns up, would wreck the whole sinister plot."

CERTIFICATE PRODUCED

"But if Lewin is dead, it is an ascertainable fact."

"It is indeed an ascertainable fact. Here is his death certificate."

With that sense of drama which is part of the Frenchman's make-up, M. Pichon produced a document from his pocket and handed it across the table to Dollimore. "That," he said, "is the death certificate of John Lewin."

Dollimore examined the paper in silence.

"Seven, Rue Lepic," he said at length.

"That's on the other side of the Boulevard Clichy, quite near the Rue Blanche."

"You notice he died ten days before his mother?" Dollimore said with growing excitement.

"And there you have, I suggest, the—"

"The remaining bits of the puzzle," Dollimore put in. "The whole plot is clear—now. Rollier, as Lewin's solicitor, is going ahead with obtaining control of the estate—the cunning devil would receive his instructions by letter, so that even if the truth came out he could still slip out of it."

Pichon nodded. "The Assistant Commissioner should be very pleased with the result of your visit to Paris, Monsieur."

"It was you, Monsieur—"

Pichon gesticulated. "Leave my name out of it, my friend. In the meantime let us drink confusion to the knaves whom you are about to upset."

"I shall return tonight, of course."

"Your work is done! There is one point on which I might venture a word of advice. It may be desirable to let this advocate—how do you say?—to give him sufficient rope to hang himself with."

Dollimore nodded and settled down to appreciate the rest of the admirably chosen dinner.

After leaving the Cafe de la Rotonde, Pichon accompanied Dollimore to the house in the Rue Lepic where Lewin had died. It proved to be a rooming house in character not unlike the one Dollimore had visited earlier in the day. The death was due, according to the certificate, to pneumonia and alcoholism and Madame Latour, the woman who ran the house, was not only willing but anxious to talk about it. She herself had written to the kind M. Rollier to acquaint him with the sad end of M. Lewin. M. Rollier had come over the next day and made all arrangements for the funeral. He and a Monsieur Cardew were there. Nobody else attended the funeral.

CASE FOR A WARRANT

Dollimore reached Scotland Yard the following morning while the cleaners were still in possession. The Chief arrived shortly after nine and he went to him at once.

"You are back early, Inspector?" he said.

"Yes. Thanks to M. Pichon's help, I discovered a rather illuminating fact. Lewin is dead."

The Chief lit his pipe and puffed in silence. "There is no doubt?" he asked, at length.

"None. Here is the certificate."

"This, of course, alters the whole complexion of the business. Rollier's statement that he was talking to him on the phone on the night of the murder was an obvious lie."

"Yes."

"I wonder if he has actually made application for Letters of Administration. I can find out; there is no reason why he shouldn't do so at once if he means to do so at all. I've had careful inquiries made about Rollier in the last 24 hours. He's in the queerest of queer street and for months past has been sailing very near the wind. Last year he came very near to being removed from the Roll. He's in a desperate corner and this mad escapade is a last fling to get out."

"There remains the urgent question of Miss Stenning. I gather from inquiry at the office that there is no development."

"None. Her cousin urged me to take more drastic action, but agreed—when I discussed it with him—that it would do no good. I'll recall Ducros at once. He can tell Fernandez that we're giving up the case as insoluble. That will probably throw him off his guard."

Dollimore nodded.

"There has been no sign of Cardew at Mossford," the Chief went on.

"He knows Ducros is there, of course," Dollimore pointed out. "He's in London—according to Blaunberg. Just a minute," he said as the telephone rang.

QUESTION OF BLUFF

He listened a moment before he said: "Oh, it's you, Ducros. We were just speaking of you."

He became silent, and Dollimore could hear the grating sound of Ducros's voice without being able to make out what he said.

"Right. Tell Fernandez that you are leaving—let him understand that you have been recalled and that we're giving up the case. If you think they're actually going, arrest both of them. Yes, I'll be responsible. Dollimore will join you by mid-day and he will have a search warrant with him as well as some of the best men we have at the game. Make them think you're leaving. Call there to say goodbye. See? Right."

"Ducros says they're packing up," he said as he replaced the receiver. "The place is practically empty—no visitors, I mean, and the majority of the servants have gone. You heard what I said to him?"

"We'll leave that to Ducros. I'll get the search warrant from the Commissioner."

"What are we to search for exactly?"

"Miss Stenning," the Chief said, as if he were surprised at Dollimore's question. "Where else is she? It's a rambling old place, probably with secret rooms. Everybody has left, more or less. What better place could they find in which to hide her? If she isn't there, I'm afraid it's a bad look-out for her. Even if they have a hide-out in London they could hardly detain her there."

"You think she's alive?"

The Chief shrugged his shoulders. "She is or she isn't," he said. "But we cannot let Fernandez and Sadie Pachmann walk out on us. Once they're away, goodness knows when we shall get them again."

"You wish me to go down at once?"

"As soon as I get the warrant. Take one of the cars and fix up things with Ducros. What is a convenient rendezvous near the club?"

"Hickham Green—behind the park. The first on the right beyond Mossford."

"The others—two cars—will be there at two o'clock. You should be with Ducros by midday, as I told him. I may look in myself during the afternoon."

"Very good, sir."

"You will be guided by developments. Don't make any formal arrests unless you have to. But don't let them go, and, above all, don't let them use the telephone while you are there. Tell Ducros to fix that with the exchange. If there is a call, answer the phone yourself, and, if advisable, say that you're Fernandez."

Dollimore nodded.

"Stop every exit. You may easily find Cardew there. On second thought I will definitely be down there this afternoon. Is all that clear?"

"Yes."

"It's a case where your intelligence will come in useful. It may call for bluff before we're through."

Bride, at the Royal Theatre, Cary Grant vanished from sight in a pall of black smoke during shooting of a scene on location in Heidelberg, Germany.

Cary was seated in the back seat of an old touring car which burned wood for fuel. Unknown to anyone, the car's owner-driver had stoked its furnace before the pair started their drive into camera range. Just as they rolled into focus, dense sooty fumes poured out and enveloped the actor.

Bridge

HERE'S INSTRUCTION ON SMART PLAYING

While practically every city has a bridge club, it is surprising that there are not more bridge clubs. We all seek congenial companionship, and that is what bridge clubs provide. Of course a married couple can invite another couple in for an evening of bridge, but perhaps the husband and wife do not get along well as bridge partners. And what about the people who are alone? They can go to a bridge club, sit in a foursome and enjoy an evening of bridge.

Murray Oliphant likes to spend an evening at the Mayfair Bridge Club in New York City. Today's hand came up in a rubber bridge game at the club. Oliphant sat South, and made an opening distributional bid of one spade. His partner made a jump shift bid of three diamonds, and they arrived at a rather doubtful slam but Murray made it in the following manner. He trumped the opening lead of the ace of clubs and led the four of spades to dummy's ace. A small spade was led from dummy and East won the trick with the king. East elected to return a diamond, which Murray won with the ten-spot. The queen of spades picked up West's last trump, then Murray proceeded to cash the balance of the diamonds, discarding two hearts from his own hand.

I have underlined the cards left in each hand at this point. Murray led the queen of clubs from dummy. If East had not covered, Murray would have discarded another heart. When East covered with the king of clubs, Murray trumped with the ten of spades, and discarded his losing heart on the good ten of clubs.

New-car performance can be extended far beyond the new car period. The average owner appreciates the precision which is built into his car and the benefits he can derive from respecting this construction. Easier starting, better mileage per gallon of gasoline, smoother running, less worry — all are obtainable, all contribute to banishing that tired feeling at the end of a drive.

Good mechanics, good judgment and knowledge of engine design and the significance of the readings of time-up instruments give the best results.

Matrimonial Plans Hinted

Mayor William O'Dwyer (right) encouraged speculation about whether he was planning to marry Sloan Simpson (left) when he said, "I will discuss that after election," when questioned about possible matrimonial plans. Miss Simpson, a New York model, has been his guest frequently at public functions. O'Dwyer, 59, is a candidate for re-election in the November election.—(NEA Photo)

Cohen, Henchmen Ask Protection Of Jail

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Here's a switch: Mickey Cohen and his boys want to get into jail.

Professing fear for their lives, four of Cohen's dwindling band of henchmen asked Thursday to be locked up. And they were. Cohen, who accompanied the quartette to court, indicated that he, too, might seek refuge behind bars in view of the strange disappearance of two of his aides, Frank Niccoli and Dave Ogul.

"I'm ready to go to jail right now—for reasons of safety," the little gambler told reporters. "I'm worried. I wish I knew the answers to these strange things that are going on."

Cohen and the uneasy quartette are all that is left of the group originally charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice in an assault case last summer. Niccoli and Ogul are missing.

St. Laurent Says Canada, U.S. Can Avert Aggression

TROY, N.Y. (UP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada said today he believed his country and the United States "are strong enough to prevent aggression" and make it an "unprofitable enterprise."

"We are strong enough to prevent aggression and our concern is that the other fellow realize it," he told a press conference in his private railroad car. "No one doubts that if there is another war we shall win it. But that isn't good enough. We don't want it."

Missing Stowaway Hunted By Officers At Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Immigration officials had a first-class mystery on their hands here today as they searched the French freighter St. Malo for a missing stowaway, one of two found hiding aboard the vessel after it had left Le Havre 10 days ago.

Capt. Marcel Monvoisin told immigration officials both stowaways were aboard the ship when it passed Cap-de-la-Madeleine, 90 miles down the St. Lawrence River from here, Thursday. But when the St. Malo docked here only one, Jean Varga, a Czech, could be found.

Immigration officers said a thorough search of the shore in the Cap-de-la-Madeleine area had failed to turn up any stowaway and they expressed belief the missing man still was aboard ship. A squad of officers went aboard the freighter and began combing it from stern to stern.

Meanwhile, Varga was placed in a cell pending deportation.

Weather Favors Yule Tree Harvest

CRANBROOK (CP)—The annual Christmas tree harvest in the East Kootenay has started, favored with good frosty weather.

Prices to growers and contractors are slightly lower this year for the trees that vary upward from two feet in length. Three companies are operating in the district, two of them exporting to the United States and the third dealing mostly in Canadian sales.

The forest branch tally for the industry shows about 300,000 trees were shipped from East Kootenay last season.

Saskatchewan Bush Combed For Slayer Of Two

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP)—R.C.M.P. today scoured the bush in the Stowles area, north of St. Walburg, Sask. for the slayer of two St. Walburg bachelors, Sam Jones, 60, and James Bailey, 75, whose bodies were found outside Bailey's home Thursday.

St. Walburg is 36 miles northeast of Lloydminster. Charles Chrest, a neighbor, found Bailey's body at noon Thursday when he went to pay a friendly call. He reported the discovery to the R.C.M.P. at St. Walburg, who went out to investigate. They found the second body about 50 feet from the spot where Bailey's body lay.

Both men had received multiple axe wounds. Police believe the unknown assailant struck Bailey down from behind and struck Jones on the forehead as he came from the rear of the Bailey house.

Police are said to be searching for a farmer of the district in connection with the slayings. Jones and Bailey had been residents of the district for about 30 years. Their farms are about two miles apart. On the day of the killings, Jones had gone to Bailey's farm to help with some fencing.

Strasser Says German Paid To Write Against Him

PARADISE, N.S. (CP)—Dr. Otto Strasser, an early Nazi leader who broke with Hitler in 1930, today accused a German defector with being paid by the United States to stir opinion against him and prevent his return to his native land to lead a new political movement.

Forced to remain in this Annapolis valley village through lack of traveling papers, Strasser today commented on the latest attack against him. It came in an article by Otto Stolz in the official German-language newspaper, Die Neue Zeitung, published in Frankfurt in the U.S. zone.

Stolz said an illegal National Socialist movement, now underground in Germany, is waiting only the return of Strasser to come into the open. He said the movement's slogan was "wait and stick together." Former S.S. (Hitler Elite Guard) officers had held "casual" meetings in Stuttgart last July. The S.S. men, according to Stolz, had no political home, but would have one if and when Strasser returned.

"Stolz is in the pay of the United States to write stories against me to prevent my return to Germany," Strasser said today. "He is a young man who has accepted this commission despite the fact that my representatives have approached him and given him proof in my writings and speeches that we are not National Socialists. In fact we are equally against Nazis and Communists and we stand for everything good for which democracy stands."

Strasser said he still hopes to return to his homeland. He has written letters to various world leaders proposing his freedom of movement, but so far has had little success.

Princess Title For Rita Official

PARIS (AP)—It's official, movie fans. Rita Hayworth is really and truly a princess.

Some in the international society set have been scoffing that Rita didn't deserve the title she's been using since she married Aly Khan. Their argument: Aly's title of prince usually has been regarded as a courtesy handle because his father in the Aga Khan, spiritual leader to a large Moslem sect.

But yesterday Iran's ambassador informed the Aga Khan that the Iran government considered him as a prince of the last dynasty of Iranian kings. This would make Aly an Iranian prince too, and his wife gets the title of princess.
